Lloyd George Says Enrolling on Emerald Isle may Begin Soon.

House of Commons Informed Report of Convention has been Tabled.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 9.—Premier Lloyd George announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the Irish convention report had been laid on the table today.

Mr. Lloyd George told the Nationalists that conscription and self-government would not go together, but that each must be taken on its merits.

It was proposed, said Mr. Lloyd George, that the King might terminate any certificates of exemption from military service by a proclamation declaring a national emergency had arisen.

It would be some weeks before enrollment in Ireland began, the Premier continued. One Nationalist cried out:

"It will never begin."

"COME TAKE US."

Michael Flavin, Nationalist member from Kerry, said:

"You come across and try to take us."

Another Nationalist exclaimed:

"It is a declaration of war against Ireland."

The report of the Irish convention was adopted by a bare majority

HEARST AID TO KULTUR

Advocated World German Alliance.

Telltale Letter Introduced Before Senate Committee of Investigation.

Offered to Pay Expenses of Delegation to Berlin to Organize Body.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 9.—William Randolph Hearst in 1907 proposed an international German alliance which would include the National German-American Alliance and other German organizations in Germany and throughout the world.

The letter to this effect written and signed by Hearst is before Congress.

This information was given today by Dr. E. E. Sporry, professor of history at Syracuse University, to the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, which is considering the King bill to revoke the charter of the German-American Alliance.

The suggestion by Hearst of an international German alliance was made, according to Dr. Sporry, at a national convention of the German-American Alliance in New York in 1907. Hearst not only proposed the world-wide organization, the witness said, but offered to pay expenses of officials of the American organization to Berlin to aid in the formation of the new association.

DR. SPORRY'S CHARGES.

"William Randolph Hearst," said Dr. Sporry, "sent a letter to the convention, in which he proposed that the national German alliance be extended to Germany, that an international alliance be established and include an organization in Germany. In his letter Hearst offered to pay the expenses of the delegates from the United States to Germany to take steps to organize such a body.

"Mr. Hearst's plan was never carried out. But he did take the delegates to the convention of 1907, at his own expense, from New York to Cambridge, Mass., where they visited the German museum at Harvard University. A cablegram was sent from there to the Kaiser, giving him the cordial greetings from the German-American Alliance. In reply, the Kaiser cabled them thanking them for their 'friendly and patriotic' greetings."

Mr. Sporry said this message of the Kaiser indicated clearly how he regarded the German-Americans in this country.

A translation of Hearst's letter submitted to the convention was given to the committee. It follows:

"The time has now come for the German-American National Alliance to broaden the field of its activities and to extend its hand to Germany so that both countries may go forward side by side on the path of progress. With this purpose in view, it is desired to found an international German-American alliance, with a branch in Berlin, in order to promote an understanding of German art and German ideals in America, as well as the study of German social and economic relations, and the most cordial political relations between the two countries. It is therefore proposed that this convention authorize the president to name a delegation of ten or twelve leading citizens who have this matter at heart in order, during the year 1908, to go to Germany and to act in the interest of this great project.

"Mr. Hearst promises to co-operate with this delegation and through his eight papers in five cities to make its purposes and its goal known to the government and the people of the United States. In order further to meet the costs of this movement, Mr. Hearst offers to pay all the expenses of the above mentioned delegation, including such public functions as it participates in while in Europe.

"Achtungsvoll (Very Respectfully.)

"It was decided," Dr. Sporry said, "that the invitation should be considered at the following annual convention."

In the same year, 1907, Dr. Sporry said that Dr. C. J. Hexamer, president of the alliance, was urging the German-Americans to take an active part in politics and to elect members of school boards who were favorable to things German, and also members of Congress.

Heart's letter, he said, was published in the official organ of the alliance.

These records were quoted by Dr. Sporry from "Das Buch der Deutschen in Amerika," issued by the National German-American Alliance and published in Philadelphia in 1908. This volume contained the history of the German-American Alliance convention in New York.

Dr. Sporry insisted that individual members of the national German-American Alliance had backed the propaganda to extend Germanism to this country. He said they backed with money the American Embargo Conference, the American Neutrality League and other similar organizations, which, he said, were part and parcel of the Pan-German League and its propaganda.

Karl Peters, he said, was the first

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 9.—Fred Baker, president of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, returned last night from Chicago. He had got as far as the Illinois metropolis, when a wire reached him asking him to return to complete the details for the big dry dock.

Formal announcement of the letting of this contract may be expected within a few days, although there has been some opposition to the building of the dock at this time.

Postponement of the Execution Stirs up a Caldron of Curiosity.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 9.—The newspapers of Paris today discuss at considerable length the new turn in the Bolo Pasha case. Although the severe censorship prohibits any surmises regarding the revelations Bolo is expected to make, their importance is shown by the decision of the military government to postpone the carrying out of the sentence of death imposed upon Bolo for treason.

Bolo's counsel refused today to go beyond the official communication issued concerning the case, which says the revelations will deal with cases under investigation. Bolo's depositions covered a period of two hours Sunday evening and three hours Monday. He was still being examined this afternoon.

GERMANS GAIN FOOTING IN NEW BRITISH SECTOR.

Very Heavy Fighting Develops on Eleven-mile Front; Portuguese in It.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 9.—Another sector of the British theater suddenly developed intense fighting today, when the Germans delivered a heavy attack over approximately an eleven-mile front between Givenchy, La Bassee and a point east of Fleurbaix just below Armentieres. A Portuguese sector is included in the line involved.

East of Le Plantin and east of Petillon the enemy appeared to have gained a footing in advanced trenches, according to the latest reports, and a fierce battle was raging all along the sector. Le Plantin is northwest of Givenchy, and Petillon lies to the east of Laventie.

At Givenchy and on the left of the front attacked the Allies apparently are holding their ground in the very heavy fighting, which was reported to be especially bitter east of Festubert. The Portuguese were being supported by British troops.

The attack was preceded by a violent bombardment which began in the early morning and extended all along the front affected. Estaires, Bethune and other towns behind the British lines have been heavily shelled.

It is too early to say what relation this new move has with the main German offensive farther south. Only time will tell whether it was undertaken as a diversion or whether the enemy has a serious idea of pushing forward here.

GERMANS IN FINLAND; RED CAUSE IS DOOMED.

FALL OF HELSINGFORS EXPECTED SOON, IS PETROGRAD REPORT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 9.—With the arrival of Germans in Finland the Red Guard cause is lost and the fall of Helsingfors is expected soon, says Reuters' Petrograd correspondent, telegraphing Monday.

The Germans demanded disarmament of forts as well as of Russian warships in Finnish waters, before Friday, he reports, and the Russian commissioners agreed to comply.

The Germans distributed by airplane a proclamation declaring that any damage to the fleet or to shipping in the ports or to the land defenses would be severely punished.

The Germans, the correspondent adds, have detained four members of the Russian delegations, "owing to military considerations."

The statement says:

"One of His Majesty's torpedo-boat destroyers sank on the 4th inst. as the result of a collision in the foggy weather. All hands are missing, and it is presumed they were drowned."

PEASANTS OF KAZAN PROCLAIM REPUBLIC.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 9.—Kazan province, in Eastern European Russia, has been proclaimed an independent republic by the Congress of Peasants in that province, according to Reuter's Petrograd correspondent. The Council of People's Commissioners has been notified to this effect.

Kazan province is in the Volga region and its capital, Kazan, is situated on the Kazanka River, near the point of its confluence with the Volga, 430 miles east of Moscow. The population of more than 2,000,000 is over one-half Russian and more than one-fourth Tartar. Its area is 24,600 square miles.

INTENSE BOMBARDMENT OF ALLIED POSITIONS.

Thick Mist at La Bassee Reported to Favor Enemy—Foe Repulsed at Givenchy and Fleurbaix.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 9.—Extremely heavy artillery activity nearly everywhere again today marked the battle line. The abandonment of Coucy-le-Chateau was cleverly effected by the French, who, while making their way toward the new positions in full freedom of movement, gave the Germans a terrific harrying bombardment with field and heavy guns, causing a great toll in casualties.

LONDON, April 9.—In their new attack on the British line between La Bassee and Armentieres, the Germans today gained ground in the neighborhood of Neuve Chappelle, Fauquissart and Cardonnerie farm, the official report from Field Marshal Haig tonight announces. The statement reads:

"This morning after an intense bombardment of our positions from La Bassee Canal to the neighborhood of Armentieres strong hostile forces attacked the British and Portuguese troops holding this sector of our front. Favored by a thick mist, which made observation impossible, the enemy succeeded in forcing his way into the Allies' positions in the neighborhood of Neuve Chappelle, Fauquissart and Cardonnerie farm.

"After heavy fighting lasting throughout the day the enemy succeeded in forcing back the Portuguese troops in the center and the British troops on the flanks of the line of the River Lys, between Estires and Bac St. Maur.

"We hold our positions on both banks about Givenchy and Fleurbaix. At both these latter places there was heavy fighting, but the enemy was repulsed.

"Richebourg-St. Vaast and Laventie have been taken by the enemy.

"Severe fighting is continuing on the whole of this front.

"South of Arras only minor engagements, in which we secured a few prisoners, have taken place during the day on the British front."

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 9.—The Germans today delivered a heavy attack against the British on an eleven-mile front between Givenchy and La Bassee and northeastward to Fleurbaix near Armentieres.

The enemy appears to have gained a foothold in some of the advanced defenses.

The enemy artillery fire south of the Somme yesterday and last night was particularly intense and the British artillery responded vigorously. Between 11 and 12 o'clock last night the enemy heavily shelled the British defenses east of Villers-Bretonneux and also pounded the region of Ribemont and Mericourt, north of the Somme.

This morning the hostile guns opened on the sector between La Bassee and Fleurbaix, south of Armentieres.

PARIS, April 8.—The War Office announcement tonight follows:

"North of Montdidier the enemy artillery, violently counter shelled, bombarded our positions at several points. In the region of Hangard-en-Santerre our fire prevented a German attack from debouching from his lines. We repulsed an enemy attempt west of Noyon in the sector of Riermont.

"On the left bank of the Oise there were intermittent artillery actions. Our batteries caught under their fire and dispersed enemy concentrations in the region of Coucy-le-Chateau.

"Eastern theater, April 8: West of Vardar a Hellenic reconnaissance dispersed a Bulgarian detachment. At the Cerna Bend one of our detachments penetrated the enemy organizations, where shelters were destroyed.

"British airplanes bombed a depot at Kakora, nine kilometers southeast of Seres."

BERLIN (via London) April 9.—The War Office this evening issued the following communication:

"North of La Bassee Canal we penetrated into English and Portuguese positions.

"On both sides of the Somme there have been violent artillery duels.

"On the southern bank of the Oise we threw back the enemy across the Oise-Aisne Canal between Coucy-le-Chateau and Brancourt."

TEUTONS SWITCH CENTER OF ATTACK FROM AMIENS.

British and Portuguese Receiving Hard Hammering in New Sector.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

AS EXPECTED, the Germans have switched the center of their main operations from the Amiens sector and are now hammering the British and Portuguese hard over a front of about eleven miles running from Givenchy and La Bassee to the vicinity of Armentieres, the Associated Press review says.

The attack was preceded by a terrific bombardment all along the line and the countryside for miles around trembled under the concussion of the big guns. At some points the enemy was able to penetrate advanced elements of the British line, especially in the neighborhood of Neuve Chapelle, Fauquissart and the Cardonnerie farm.

MEN UNDER COVER.

Meanwhile, all along the greater part of the old line south of Arras, extremely violent artillery duels were in progress, but the infantry of both sides kept to their trenches except for isolated attacks of no great importance.

Near the Coucy forest and Coucy-le-Chateau the French have made a slight retirement to positions previously prepared—the maneuver apparently being in the nature of line straightening. So well was the operation covered by the French guns that the Germans suffered extremely heavy casualties in endeavoring to make it null.

PREMIER SEES DANGER.

Realizing the extremely critical situation from the standpoint of man power, David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, has informed the House of Commons in a speech that it was impossible longer to exclude Ireland from the provisions of conscription, and that the age for military service would be raised to 50 years, and in certain specified cases it might be increased to 55. The Premier declared that a bill would be introduced in Parliament giving Ireland a measure for self-government. Several of the Na-

OUR ENGINEERS MOW DOWN FOE.

American Railway Men Help Stem German Tide.

Sickened by Awful Slaughter of the Enemy.

Fight Shoulder to Shoulder with the Canadians.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, April 8.—The American railway engineers who helped stem the tide of the onrushing Germans during the opening days of the battle now in progress fought shoulder to shoulder with Canadian engineers in carrying out their task. They held their ground stubbornly and retired to previously prepared positions only when forced to do so, and inflicted casualties by the thousands upon the Germans, who advanced in close formation, in one place as many as seven waves, each wave ten men deep and 100 yards apart.

The Americans with the Canadians had all the ammunition they needed, and, although they were unsupported by the artillery and armed only with rifles and with a few machine guns, they poured scythe-like streams of bullets into the enemy at several different times until the weapons were so hot as to be useless.

This handful of American soldiers, who were not hardened to such terrific slaughter, was sickened by the shambles it created, but fought furiously several days, helping to hold the enemy all the way from St. Quentin to the vicinity of Noyon. These were the Americans mentioned at the time in the official communiques, but these details of their exploits it has only now been possible to secure.

American outposts in the Lorraine sector attacked a German patrol this morning and killed one of the enemy party. The Americans dragged the body across No Man's Land into their own trenches for identification. There were no American casualties.

When the German attack began the Americans were working in the rear lines with the Canadians, under Canadian command. They quickly threw down their tools and seized the weapons with which they had been armed for some months and formed themselves into a fighting unit. The Germans came on and finally reached the positions where the Americans were waiting. The exact numbers of the engineers cannot be given, but they were comparatively small.

As the first gray enemy advanced, the American forces let them come until they were within certain range; then opened fire, pouring in a storm of bullets. Gaps appeared in the advancing lines at many places, some of them large, where the machine guns had chewed through. Still the German waves came on, without firing a single shot—just advancing.

The Americans were unable to understand these tactics, but, nevertheless were certain that it was a question of slaughtering the enemy or being themselves smothered under the advance. By this time their weapons were so hot they could not be used effectively and the enemy was close, so that the engineers retired, fighting, and took up another position. Then they turned and began operations again. A British officer who witnessed this engagement is reported to have said:

"They held on by their teeth until the last moment, inflicting terrific casualties on the enemy. Then they moved back and waited for the Germans and repeated the performance."

By the time the engineers had reached a place somewhere near Noyon they were nearly exhausted and almost without equipment. There they were given a chance to rest and re-equip.

According to all reports they gave the Germans a generous sample of what the enemy is to expect from the American army.

During a battle unusual stories always crop up, but the following is one which the correspondent heard from an unquestionable source: In one of the periods when the American engineers and their Canadian comrades in arms were holding a position, what appeared to be a British staff motor drove up. The driver was in the uniform of a British soldier and a man in the tonneau was in the uniform of a British staff officer.

The officer stepped out and asked for the commanding officer. He was taken to a Canadian officer near by. The staff officer ordered the commander to retire four kilometers, saying that the Germans were pressing on both flanks and he might be cut off.

For some reason the Canadian commander became suspicious. He had the staff officer searched, when the latter failed to produce his authority, and papers were found on him proving that he was a German officer. He and his chauffeur were immediately shot.

American engineer officers are said to have been present when this incident occurred.

BOLSHEVIK WAR ON JAPS LOOMS

Sixty Thousand Armed German Prisoners Mobilized.

Enemy Training Orientals for Telegraph Service.

Further Disquieting Report Comes Out of Siberia.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

MOSCOW, Monday, April 8.—Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik Premier, in a speech here today, said that possibly Russia would have to declare war on Japan in connection with the landing of Japanese troops at Vladivostok.

PRISONERS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 9.—While the Russian Bolshevik authorities deny it, says a dispatch from Harbin by way of Tokio to the Daily Mail, there are 60,000 armed German prisoners mobilized at Tomsk, Siberia, and destined for the Far East.

HUNS TRAIN WIRE MEN.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PEKING, Thursday, April 4.—The Germans are recruiting and training telegraph operators in Manchuria, according to a report made today to the War Ministry by the General Staff. It says:

"Special investigators sent to Siberia and Manchuria report that the Germans are enlisting Chinese, Japanese and Korean telegraphers at Harbin and Chang Chun for service on the Chinese Eastern railways. These operators are being trained specially by the Germans as wire tappers. The recruits also include wireless experts. It is believed there are wireless stations hidden in Mongolia and Manchuria.

"It is also feared that Chinese telegraphers in various offices are acting as German agents. A strict investigation should be made."

JAP CO-OPERATION.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PEKING, Thursday, April 4.—It is reported in semiofficial circles that Japan has proposed to send 200,000 troops to China to co-operate with 200,000 Chinese troops, officered by the Japanese, to restore order throughout China and protect the borders. The alternative is that Japan will dispatch troops to Shangtung and Fukien provinces for the protection of Japanese interests.

It also is said that Japan has submitted a new series of demands to China, including complete control of China's finances; that 50 per cent. of ammunition purchases be made in Japan; the operation of iron mines and dock yards under Japanese control, and the recognition of special Japanese interests in Mongolia, the same as in Manchuria.

only, and therefore the government would take the responsibility, the Premier said, for such proposals for self-government as were just and could be carried out without violent controversy.

When an emergency had arisen which made it necessary to put men of 50 and boys of 18 into the fight for liberty, Mr. Lloyd George declared, it was not possible to exclude Ireland from conscription by a Parliament in which Ireland was represented and which had committed the country to the war without a dissenting vote.

The character of the quarrel in which the country was engaged, the Premier said, was as much Irish as English.

When Mr. Lloyd George referred to Ireland, Alfred Byrne, Nationalist member from Dublin, shouted:

"We won't have conscription in Ireland."

An uproar followed.

WHAT O'CONNOR SAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Conscription in Ireland would paralyze Ireland's best friends and encourage its bitterest enemies in this country, according to a cablegram sent tonight to John Dillon, leader of the Irish party in Parliament, by T. P. O'Connor, noted speaker and Member of Parliament, now here on a speaking tour.

Mr. O'Connor dispatched the cablegram, he said, when he learned of Premier Lloyd George's proposal to extend conscription to Ireland. The cablegram follows:

"I must at once record a solemn warning that conscription in Ireland will paralyze its friends and encourage its bitterest enemies in this country.

"This insane blunder would again render futile the best efforts of Irish leaders everywhere."

PREDICTS A TRAGEDY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 9. — Richard Hasleton, member of the Irish Nationalist party in the British House of Commons, tonight issued the following statement regarding the decision of England to extend the draft to Ireland:

"It is the most momentous event in the relations of Ireland and England since England destroyed the Irish Parliament 118 years ago. I cannot believe that the House of Commons will approve it. If it does we are bound to witness a tragedy in Ireland similar to which this war has brought to Belgium, Poland and Serbia.

"John Redmond warned the British government that if it were foolish enough to bring conscription forward it would be resisted in every town of Ireland. I fear the country will run red with blood. Moderate Nationalists as well as Sinn Feiners have ever denied absolutely the right of England to conscript Irishmen. England has respected that position until now.

"Even yet if Ireland be given a proper measure of self-government, she can be led to make further sacrifices for the cause of the Allies, but conscription by England will lead to utter disaster in Ireland and must prejudice very gravely the wider cause of world liberty."

AN IRISH WARNING AGAINST THE DRAFT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

DUBLIN, April 8.—The corporation of the city of Dublin today adopted a resolution warning the British government against "disastrous results of any attempt to force conscription upon Ireland." The resolution adds that "such an insane proposal" would be resisted violently by every town and village in Ireland.

Hearst Aid to Kultur

German to come to the United States for the Pan-German League, and a German named Von Rintelen came a little later. The latter, he said, would have tried to bribe members of Congress direct to attain his ends.

Dr. Sporry said the American Embargo Conference was really composed of five persons and was supported by German-American organizations, which contributed $57,000 to it when it was seeking to place an embargo on the shipment of arms and munitions and other articles to the Allies. He said this conference had paid for 5,000,000 telegrams sent to members of Congress and other persons from all parts of the country to aid the propaganda.

The witness read to the committee a message alleged to have been sent in 1915 by the director of the press at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Berlin to all Ambassadors, Ministers and Consular authorities in neutral nations, as follows:

"It is brought to your knowledge that in the country in which you are accredited there have been founded special bureaus for the organization of propaganda in the countries of the coalition at war with Germany. The propaganda will have for its aim the inception of social movements, accompanied by strikes, revolutionary explosions, separatist movements and civil war, as well as an agitation in favor of disarmament and cessation of bloody war."

WHAT GERMANY IS DOING.

Dr. Sporry said that it was now clear just what Germany had been doing along these lines in Russia, Italy and other nations at war with Germany, including the United States.

The Pan-German League, Dr. Sporry said, had been interested in establishing Germanism in practically all the countries of the civilized world. The German government, he said, had appropriated millions of marks for this league's work. He said that German religious organizations, evangelical and Catholic, had been active in the work of spreading Germanism, and that they had been used "to implant German national sentiment in this country."

"It will be noticed," continued Dr. Sporry, "that the German government includes among its measures a separatist movement. The German-American societies of the United States, of which Berlin and center was the Mitteleuropean-American Alliance, [illegible] separatist movement.

"Its military significance [illegible] this, that in case of war between Germany and the United States the organized German-American societies to persuade or coerce the government of the United States to adopt policies favorable to Germany.

Disclaiming any attempt to be unfair, Senator Johnson said many persons disagree with Creel's statement and if it was denounced, under the bill, the person criticising might be imprisoned twenty years.

Senator Wolcott of Delaware, said Creel was not a "duly constituted authority," having been appointed by the President and not authorized by Congress—just as Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, was appointed the President's agent in what Senator Wolcott said was a "voluntary" capacity to investigate aviation production.

TO CURTAIL TALK.

An agreement to limit debate on the Sedition Bill beginning tomorrow was reached late today in the Senate.

By unanimous consent it was decided to invoke the rule restricting speeches to ten minutes on the bill and five minutes on amendments after 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. An agreement to fix a definite time for a final vote could not be secured, but administration leaders hoped for passage of the measure late tomorrow or Thursday.

A proposal by Senator France of Maryland, to limit the prohibition against "disloyal, profane, scurrilous, contemptuous" language about the Constitution, flag, etc., to disloyal utterances was defeated without a record vote.

Another amendment by the Maryland member, proposing that the legislation should not limit individual liberty to state "what is true, with good motives and for justifiable ends" was tentatively rejected, 33 to 31.

WASTING TIME.

Nearly a dozen amendments, including several restricting German language publications, are ready for consideration tomorrow. When Senator Penrose made an objection, which later he withdrew, to the agreement for limited debate tomorrow, Senator Williams said the Senate had been "talking, fooling, splitting hairs, camouflaging," and had wasted forty-eight hours deciding whether the word "intended" should be substituted for "calculated" in the prohibitory clause.

"This august body, which has been criticising the executive for inefficiency," he said, "has been tweedle-dumming and tweedle-deeing, camouflaging and trying to fool one another in the ultimate hope of fooling the country."

BILLS PASSED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A number of bills relating to the military establishment were passed yesterday by the House, including the Senate measure to increase the number of chaplains in the army to one for every 1250 men instead of one for every 3500, as at present. The bill was amended to make the age limit 45 years and to permit of the appointment of Christian Science readers.

Other measures passed were:

A Senate bill authorising the President in his discretion to sell war supplies to persons, firms or foreign governments.

A bill providing for the issuance of temporary commissions in the army to fill places made vacant by promotion of regular army officers.

A bill to suspend sentence of confinement in disciplinary barracks for minor offenses so the offender may be used in the service immediately if the case warrants.

A bill to make mine-planting a distinctive branch under the Coast Artillery.

A bill authorising the army to pay citizens of France for any damage done their property by the American army while training or moving about the country.

A bill providing for the payment of the traveling expenses of an enlisted man when on duty.

A Senate bill making it a misdemeanor to trap or injure a carrier pigeon used by the army or navy.

HUNDRED RIVALS FOR LOAN FLAG

Many Communities Fill Out Full Quotas Quickly.

Report in Such Close Order Ranking is Impossible.

How Campaign is Going may be Officially Told Today.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—National recognition for the first place in the race for the third Liberty Loan honor flag will have to be divided among probably 100 communities which subscribed their full quota within a few minutes after 9 o'clock last Saturday morning and reported in such close order that it is impossible to give each an individual rank. Consequently, the treasury had declared the contest result a multiple tie, and tonight gave out the names of forty-five communities in five Federal reserve districts which are to share the honors. Reports from other districts later are expected to swell this list to more than 100.

The forty-five already tied at the top of the nation's honor roll include twenty-six towns in the New York district, eighteen in the Philadelphia district and one each in the Boston, Cleveland and Atlanta districts.

FOR CLASS HONORS.

In addition to the race for the honor of reporting a full subscription first, there remain a number of contests for the ranking by population classes. For instance, Lynn, Mass., appears to be the first city in the class between 50,000 and 100,000 population (1910 census figures) to reach its quota, and Sioux City seems the first between 25,000 and 50,000. Joliet, Ill., with a 1910 population of 35,000, and Burlington, Vt., with 20,000, also are among the first to report in their classes.

Reports to national headquarters today on the total of subscriptions already obtained were few, as a result of Secretary McAdoo's order that local campaign committees should give out only official figures gathered from banks, and that figures for the nation should be based only on Federal reserve banks' reports.

OFFICIAL REPORTS TODAY.

The treasury is hoping for some official reports tomorrow and for enough to furnish a comprehensive idea of the loan's success in the whole country within two or three days. A number of newspapers and committees protested against the order today, but officials repeated that it was necessary to guard against overestimating the daily progress of the loan campaign.

Secretary McAdoo's plea for a very large oversubscription of the $2,000,000,000 minimum of the war credit was a development of the day.

Deliveries of flags to communities already has begun and will be continued as fast as full certification of local records are made to the Federal Reserve Bank of the district.

CAMPFIRE PERMITS NEEDED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

LIGHTHOUSE BILL REPORTED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A lighthouse bill, carrying close to $2,000,000, was favorably reported to the House today.

THE TIMES printed	9,425 inches
Second morning newspaper printed	6,849 "
Third morning newspaper printed	3,796 "

Of 5494 inches of "want ads"—the quick-action messengers of the masses—The Times printed 308 inches more than the other two local newspapers combined. A rule and pencil and paper will demonstrate the accuracy of the following "want-ad" figures for Sunday, April 7, to wit:

THE TIMES printed	2,121 inches
Second morning newspaper printed	1,673 "
Third morning newspaper printed	1,692 "

The popularity of a newspaper and the result-producing value of its advertising columns invariably are indicated by the volume of "want ads," or classified advertising, it prints.

The Times printed 125,310 copies last Sunday, all of which were sold before 10 a.m. the same day.

McAdoo Lays Down Rules Regarding Publicity.

Must Eliminate Dwelling on Luxurious Trains.

Committee to Standardize All Time Tables.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Railroad publicity and advertising in the future must be limited to information needed by the public, under orders issued today by Director-General McAdoo.

"The custom of exploiting train service, pleasure or health resorts, and the like must be discontinued until further notice," said the order. "All forms of general advertising, such as pictures, calendars, wall maps, etc., must also be discontinued. Newspaper and other advertising must be confined to the giving of necessary information to the public.

"Time table folders must be standardized and distribution carefully checked to avoid waste. All advertising of luxurious trains, claims of superior service and extraneous matter of every description must be eliminated and the folders made purely informative."

To work out standardized time tables a committee of three passenger agents from each of the three operating districts has been appointed with A. H. Craig, general passenger agent of the Chicago, Great Western, as chairman.

DRAMA FROM CHICAGO ROASTED IN SWEDEN.

"ROMANCE" OF THE LOOP DISTRICT HOWEVER WINS SOME APPLAUSE.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STOCKHOLM, April 9.—Poor Ned Sheldon of Chicago had to stand forth as a whipping-boy for his country this morning. The drama called "Romance," a great success in America, England and Russia was produced here last night. Its production at the Svenska Theater was energetically applauded, but this morning's reviews were awful, about the worst I ever read in any country.

The Social Democrat, a powerful organ, describes "Romance," as a mixture of American novelette and farce, all attuned to the psychology of a picture-palace public a "cash box piece, showing what is required to be a successful dramatist in dollar land."

This newspaper declares the play lacks taste and shows an absence of fine feeling in delineating the soul and possesses all the tricks which can attract an uncultivated public, adding that the character of the clergyman, Armstrong in his "double role of evangelist and seducer is a little too strong for any but the Yankee public's nerves."

Stockholm's Dagblad says the author is inspired by the pathos of Donnizetti and his play "combines the sentimentalism of Europe's old operatic era with the Yankees' primitive comprehension of aesthetic feeling. As literature it is totally valueless."

CARRANZA WIRES TO ALBERT ON BIRTHDAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, April 9.—President Carranza sent the following message to King Albert of Belgium yesterday on the occasion of the King's birthday:

"I have the honor to express to Your Majesty, in the name of the people and government of Mexico, my most cordial felicitations on this day upon which the anniversary of your birth is commemorated, and I am pleased to extend by best wishes for the peace and liberty of Belgium, for your personal happiness and for that of your august family.

ITALIAN PREMIER VISITS WAR FRONTS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS IN NORTHERN ITALY, Monday, April 8.—Premier Orlando has just completed a tour of four days along the Italian mountain and river fronts. The Premier received from all an impression of strong confidence prevailing in all ranks. He talked with soldiers and assured them of the pride and confidence the government had in the valiant service they were rendering.

tionalist members interrupted the Premier during his speech and declared that conscription would not be permitted in Ireland.

EYES TOWARD ITALY.

There is still no indication of the near approach of the expected big battle on the Italian front, although the artillery engagements at various points are increasing in intensity. Well-directed shots from the Italian guns in the Astago basin have worked havoc with Austrian ammunition depots and also started fires inside the enemy lines.

RUSSIANS ACQUIESCE.

In Finland the Germans are preparing to take Helsingfors, according to dispatches from Petrograd. They already have demanded the disarmament of the forts in Finland and of Russian warships in Finnish waters. It is said that the Russian commissioners have agreed to comply with the German demand.

The landing of Japanese troops at Vladivostok is apparently causing friction between the Russian Bolshevik government and Japan. Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik Premier, in a speech at Moscow, asserted that Russia possibly would have to declare war upon Japan as a result of the landing of the Japanese.

SAYS KAISER AIMS TO BOYCOTT US.

LOS ANGELES MAN SPEAKS FROM TWENTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE OF GERMANY.

A new viewpoint, based on twenty years of personal experience with Kaiserism, is given by Louis H. Reno, room 411, Grosse Building, this city, on the aims of Germany—should she be victorious—after the war. Mr. Reno, who is the artist of a Liberty Loan poster adopted for use by the local campaign committee, says it is Germany's intention to boycott our commerce after the cessation of hostilities as part of a programme of world domination.

"World domination by the Kaiser would hit the American really closer than he imagines," he said. "Let the Kaiser win now in Europe and the freedom of the United States will be lost.

"There has been and is a great deal of talk about boycotting German commerce after this war. To the average American this seems to be a matter of course. If I were to say: 'Look out, there is a possibility that the Kaiser might turn the tables and boycott the commerce of the Allies after the war,' you would probably laugh at me or think me a lunatic.

"I have suffered under the Kaiser's system for over twenty years and I know something of this machine, called militarism. As a matter of fact the grand General Staff of the Kaiser intends to boycott American commerce after the war.

"At the present great drive, the Germans expect to break through the Allied line in France and defeat the Allies. If the Kaiser could accomplish that, he would control Europe. And controlling Europe he would dominate Africa and the greater part of Asia.

"The United States is the only nation that can prevent the working out of the Kaiser's scheme. We have the strength, means and resources to wipe out Kaiserism.

"Don't underestimate the Kaiser; don't hope to starve out Germany; don't count on a German revolution. But roll up your sleeves and get busy. War is war, and war must be prosecuted vigorously and thoroughly.

"All spies should be shot. All German-Americans of whom we are not absolutely sure should be interned. If you attack a tree on the roots, it will die.

"When the people at home get into the fight and give their fullest support to the men over there, we shall have dealt the Kaiser a telling blow."

"HALF-SOLED" TOGS URGED BY M'ADOO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

RALEIGH (N. C.) April 9.—The man or woman who wears old clothes instead of purchasing new ones when the government is asking for money with which to win the war, is performing a patriotic duty, Secretary McAdoo told an audience here today in a Liberty Bond speech.

"Half-soled breeches and half-soled shoes are badges of honor," he said. "I wear them myself, and I am glad to recommend them. I like to think that I am releasing leather for a soldier's feet and clothing for a soldier's body."

MINERS DIE IN EXPLOSION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FORT SMITH (Ark.) April 9.—Three coal miners were killed, one was probably fatally injured and seven others were less seriously hurt in an explosion today at the Hartford Valley Fuel Company's mine near here. It is believed gas caused the explosion at the bottom of the 180-foot shaft.

Status Defined.

NEW GUARD IS TO STAY HOME.

No Drafting into the Federal Service, Plan Now.

Will be Held Subject to Domestic Duty Call.

Gen. Borree Gets Ruling as to California Companies.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—National Guard companies organized since August 5, 1917, will not be drafted into the Federal service for duty overseas under the present plans of the War Department, but will be held subject to the call of the President for domestic duty only, according to a telegram received from Washington today by Adjt.-Gen. Borree.

The telegram was in answer to one sent Saturday by Gen. Borree to the chief of the militia bureau at Washington, in which he recommended that thirteen separate infantry companies of National Guard organized recently in California be taken into the Federal service and assigned to the Fortieth Division at Camp Kearny. Several other companies are being organized in the State.

Gen. Borree was authorized to discharge from the companies any member who desired to enlist in branches of the service where there is a reasonable possibility of going overseas. Members of draft age are subject to being drafted into the National Army.

A request for a Federal inspection of the California companies mustered in recently has been made by Gen. Borree. He expected this would be made soon, he said today.

There are five companies in Los Angeles, two in Fresno, one each in San Francisco, Sacramento, Visalia, Stockton, Modesto and Alameda. The thirteen companies have an aggregate membership of approximately 1350 men.

Commissions were issued today by Gov. Stephens to officers of the Twelfth Separate Infantry Company, California National Guard, at Modesto. The following received commissions: James T. Howsen, captain; Lawrence M. Farrell, first lieutenant; George A. Ashman, second lieutenant.

John Sheldon Malcom was commissioned major and commandant of the cadet company at Anaheim High School, Orange county.

FRENCH BREAD RATION REDUCED ONE-THIRD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—France has just begun a new regime of bread conservation, the Food Administration announced today. From now on bread will be strictly rationed through all of France on the following basis:

Children less than 3 years old, 3½ ounces per day; children from 3 to 13 years old, 7 ounces; persons from 13 to 60 years old, 10½ ounces (hard workers in this age class may receive 3½ ounces more;) persons over 60 years old, 7 ounces.

This ration is about two-thirds of the bread allowance heretofore maintained.

Bread constitutes over one-half the diet of the French nation, and the price of meat is so high as to practically prohibit its use by a large part of the population.

WOULD RAISE PAY OF ALL FEDERAL WORKERS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Salary increases of $120 annually for virtually all government employees in the civil establishment are proposed in an amendment attached today by the Senate Appropriations Committee to the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill.

The committee restored appropriations, struck out in the house, to continue subtreasuries at Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis and San Francisco.

AVIATION CADET IS INSTANTLY KILLED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

DALLAS (Tex.) April 9. — Cadet John Insinger of Greeley, Colo., was instantly killed at Love field, an American aviation camp, here today when two machines crashed together about 500 feet in the air.

Cadet Earl Zinn, who was piloting the machine which collided with Insinger's airplane, was slightly injured. Both machines were totally wrecked.

MORE SALOONS TO CLOSE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

REDWOOD CITY, April 9.—Twenty saloons will be closed July 1 as the result of an election here yesterday, the drys winning, 657 to 448. Redwood City is but five miles from Camp Fremont, and a heated campaign was waged, with the alleged sale of liquor to soldiers a feature.

STEEL CORPORATION IS BIG BOND BUYER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 9.—The United States Steel Corporation today announced it had subscribed for $35,000,000 of the third Liberty Loan on its own account and for $10,000,000 additional to be offered to employees on the installment plan.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It clears out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.

Ladies! Salute Him!

Discovers drug that loosens sore, touchy corns so they lift out

A noted Cincinnati chemist discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and little quarter ounce bottles can now be obtaind from any drug store for a few cents.

You simply apply several drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with the fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness either when applying freezone or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! Seems magical. It works like a charm. Millions of women will hereafter keep a little bottle of the wonderful freezone handy and never let a corn ache twice.

Lemons Whiten and Beautify the Skin! Make Cheap Lotion

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen, and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful for rough, red hands. Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost, and any grocer will supply the lemons.

REDUCING THE DIVORCE AVERAGE

The other day a well-known divorce lawyer made the remark that the majority of women seeking divorce are fat. As a woman advances from youth to middle age, she thickens and broadens (unless she be wise;) hence, husband grows less anxious to please her, as her charm over others grows less. In time this process ends up in a divorce court.

Women who have (husbands) must hold. For this nothing serves like a youthful figure. But how overcome the thickening of middle age? Very simple. Exercise will not do—does not housework fail? And dieting makes wrinkles. Instead, escape both bother and wrinkles by taking a Marmola Tablet after each meal and at bedtime. These tablets will take off a pound of fat a day—beginning the reduction where it shows the most, viz: on hips, chin, abdomen, etc. Get down to the lost, youthful figure that lies under your fat; and then stay there with the occasional help of a tablet. Anticipate no ill effect, there will be none; the tablets will rather increase your well-being, being, as they are, a guaranteed reproduction, in convenient form, of that famous fashionable formula, ½ oz. Marmola, ¼ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 4½ oz. Peppermint Water. They are so low in cost, a large case, of the makers, the Marmola Co., 864 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., or of any druggist, costing only seventy-five cents.

SCENE IN PARLIAMENT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 9. — Premier Lloyd George told the House of Commons today that when the battle on the Somme front commenced the total combatant strength of the German army on the west front was approximately equal to the total of the Entente Allies.

The Premier, in speaking of the western front battle, said the Cabinet had taken every step to hurry reinforcements. The number of guns and prisoners taken had been exaggerated grossly by the Germans.

The Ministry of Munitions, the Premier added, had been able to replace the guns and there were substantial reserves left. The Cabinet was confident the army would be equal to the next encounter.

TO RECALL GEN. GOUGH.

Lloyd George said the Cabinet had decided to recall Gen. Gough, who was in command of the Fifth Army, against which the Germans made their principal gains. Until all the circumstances of his retirement were known, however, it would be unfair, he said, to censure him.

Having gained an initial success, Lloyd George went on, the enemy was preparing a greater attack and it would be a fatal error to underestimate the gravity of the prospect.

THE PREMIER'S SPEECH.

Premier Lloyd George said:

"We have now entered the most critical phase of this terrible war. There is a lull in the storm, but the hurricane is not over. Doubtless we must expect more fierce outbreaks, and era it is finally exhausted there will be many more.

"The fate of the empire, the fate of Europe and the fate of liberty throughout the world, may depend upon the success with which the very last of these attacks is resisted and countered.

"The government, therefore, propose to submit to Parliament today certain recommendations to assist this country and the Allies to weather the storm. They will involve, I regret, extreme sacrifices on the part of large classes of the population, and nothing would continue to justify them but the most extreme necessity and the fact that we are fighting for all that is essential and most sacred in our national life.

"Before I come to the circumstances which led up to our submitting these proposals I ought to say one word as to why Parliament was not immediately summoned. Since the battle began the government have been engaged almost every hour in concerting with the Allies the necessary measures to assist the armies to deal with the emergency.

"The proposals which we intend submitting to Parliament required very close and careful consideration and I think there is this advantage in our meeting today, rather than immediately after the impact of the German attack, that we shall be considering these proposals under conditions which will be far removed from any suggestion of panic.

"I shall now come to the circumstances which have led to the present military position. It is very difficult at this time to present a clear, connected and reliable narrative of what happened. There has been a great battle on a front of fifty miles—the greatest battle ever fought in the history of the world. Enormous forces have been engaged and there was a considerable retirement on the part of the British forces and under these conditions it is not always easy for some time to ascertain what actually happened.

"The House will recollect the difficulty we experienced with regard to Cambrai. It was difficult to piece together the story of the event for some time, and Cambrai was a very trivial event compared with this gigantic battle.

"The generals and their staffs are, naturally, engaged and have to concentrate their attention upon the operation of the enemy, and until the strain relaxes it would be very difficult to institute the necessary inquiries to find out exactly what happened and to furnish an explanation of the battle.

"However, there are two or three facts which stand out and, in stating them, I should like to call attention to two things, which I think, above all, must be avoided. The first is that nothing should be said that could give information to the enemy; nothing should be said which would give encouragement to the enemy and nothing should be said which would give discouragement to our troops, who are fighting so gallantly at this very hour.

"And the second question is that all recrimination at this hour must be shut out.

"What was the position at the beginning of the battle? Nothwithstanding the heavy casualties in 1917, the army in France was considerably stronger on the first of January, 1918, than on the first of January, 1917. Up to the end of 1917—up to, say, about October or November—the German combatant strength in France was as two to the Allies' three. Then came the military collapse of Russia and the Germans hurried up their released divisions from the eastern front and brought them to the west. They had a certain measure of Austrian support, which had been accorded to them.

"Owing to the growth of the strength of our armies in 1917, when this battle began the combatant strength of the whole of the German army on the western front was only approximately, though not quite, equal to the total combatant strength of the Allies in infantry. They were slightly inferior in artillery.

"They were inferior in cavalry, they were considerably inferior; and what is very important, they were undoubtedly inferior in aircraft.

"The Germans, therefore, organized their troops so as to produce a large number of divisions out of the slightly smaller number of infantry and slightly smaller number of guns. They had fewer battalions in a division and fewer men in a battalion. That is entirely a question of organization and it yet remains to be seen that their organization is better than ours. It is necessary to explain that in order that the House should realize why, with approximately the same number of men, the Germans have a larger number of divisions on that front.

"According to all the facts which have come to hand as to the losses of the battle, that roughly represents the relative strength of the combatants on both sides at this moment. The Germans had, however, one or two important advantages. The first, the initial advantage, which is always commanded by the offensive is that they know where they mean to attack. They choose the ground; they choose the location; they know the width of the attack; they know the dimensions of the attack; they know the time of the attack; they know the method of attack. All that invariably gives the initial advantage to the offensive.

DEFENSE ADVANTAGE.

"The defense has a general advantage. Owing to air observation concealment is difficult.

"At the same time, in spite of all that, owing to the power of moving troops at night, which the Germans exercised to a very large extent, there is a large margin for surprise even in favor of air observation, and of this the enemy took full advantage.

"I should like to say one word here as to the difficulty which the Allied generals were confronted with in this respect. Before the battle the greatest German concentration was in front of our troops. That was no proof that the full weight of the attack would fall on us. There was a very large concentration opposite the French lines. There was a very considerable concentration—I am referring to the German reserves—on the northern part of our line.

"After the battle began or immediately after the battle the Germans by night brought their divisions from the northern part to the point where the attack took place. They also took several divisions from opposite the French in the same way and brought them to our front. But it would have been equally easy for them, while concentrating troops opposite our front, to maneuver them in the same way opposite the French. I am only referring to that in order to show how exceedingly difficult it is for generals on the defensive to decide exactly where, in their judgment, the attack is coming and where they ought to concentrate their reserves.

"I may just say a word here. This problem was considered very closely by the military staff at Versailles and I think it right, in justice to them, to point out that after a very close study of the German position and of the probabilities of the case, they came to the conclusion, and they stated their conclusion to the military representatives and to the Ministers in the month of January, or the beginning of February, that the attack would come south of Arras; that it would be an attack on a very wide front—that it would be an attack on the widest front ever yet assailed; that the Germans would accumulate ninety-five divisions for the purpose of making that attack; that they would throw the whole of their resources and their strength into breaking the British line at that point and that their objective would be the capture of Amiens and the severance of the British and French forces.

"That was the conclusion Sir Henry Wilson (chief of the imperial staff,) came to and which was submitted at that time, two or three months ago, and I think that it was one of the most remarkable forecasts of enemy intentions that was ever made.

"As a matter of fact, the attack was made up, think, by about ninety-seven divisions. It was an attack on the widest front that ever had been engaged. Its object, undoubtedly, was the capture of Amiens and the severance of the British and French forces. So that almost in every detail, that very remarkable forecast has been verified in the event.

"Another remarkable prediction was that it might probably succeed to the extent of penetrating the British line to the extent of half the distance of the front attacked. They came to that conclusion from a close examination of the offensives of the war.

"There was another advantage. There was, first of all, the advantage which the Germans had from having the initiative. There was a further advantage they had and this undoubtedly was the greatest advantage, from having a united command opposed to a dual one. The Germans undoubtedly relied on this to a very large extent for their success. They owe much of the success of this attack to this.

"It was reported to me on good authority that the Kaiser informed ex-King Constantine: 'I shall be at them, for they have no united command.' Which shows that that was what they were relying in the main upon, that although their numbers were slightly inferior they knew the importance that was to be attached to the fact that there was a perfectly united command."

TONNAGE SENT ACROSS GAINS.

INCREASE OF 20 PER CENT. IS NOTED IN SHIPPING TO EUROPE IN MARCH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—An increase of 20 per cent. in the amount of tonnage shipped across the Atlantic in March was gained through close co-operation of the Ship Control Committee, the Shipping Board and the War Department in directing the movement of traffic. Officials confidently predicted today that the efficiency in handling was growing and would mean a gain of 20 per cent. in tonnage during April.

The strength of the nonfighting fleet which the United States has contributed to the aid of the Allies became known today for the first time. A total of 390 American vessels or vessels under American control now are in the trans-Atlantic trade, with a tonnage of 2,762,605. Of these, 322 fly the American flag, while sixty-eight are chartered ships of neutral nations. The American ships have a carrying capacity of 2,345,344 tons.

In addition to the present fleet, there are 471,000 tons of Dutch ships still to be put into service as soon as crews can be provided. Ships built in America for the Shipping Board will swell the total still further, as the building programme begins to show cumulative results during the summer.

S. W. ODELL IS OUT FOR CONGRESSMAN.

ATTACKS ALLEGED PACIFIST RECORD OF REPRESENTATIVE RANDALL.

Criticising the alleged pacifist and anti-war record of Congressman Randall, S. W. Odell of Pasadena yesterday announced himself a candidate for Representative in Congress for the Ninth District. He gives the following as the main reasons impelling him to enter the race:

"The people of the Ninth District are almost unanimously supporting the President and the army and navy in bringing the present war to such a victorious conclusion that the world shall be made safe for democracy and never again shall such brutal militarism as is represented by Germany and Turkey and their allies afflict the world. And the district ought not to be represented by a pacifist of Mr. Randall's type.

"The people of the Ninth District are overwhelmingly 'dry,' as was shown by their election of Mr. Randall, a Prohibition party man, to the high office he now holds. They should be represented by a 'dry.'

"The people of the Ninth District are overwhelmingly Republican in sentiment and ought to be represented by a Republican. Mr. Randall voted with the Democrats in electing Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the House, and has generally acted with that party in Congress."

Mr. Odell refers to the Congressional Record as showing that Mr. Randall voted with Mr. La Follette of Wisconsin against vital war measures as follows: Against the aviation bill, against the fortification bill, against the naval bill, against declaration of war with Germany, against the hydrographic (naval) bill and against the National Army bill.

"Besides his recorded votes, on these most vital bills for preparing this nation for the war and for selecting an army by a most equitable method so that rich and poor, patriot and slacker, should bear equal burdens," the statement says, "he printed in the Congressional Record, while urgent war measures were under consideration on May 7, 1917, a speech on the war, in which after declaring himself bitterly opposed to war, he said that most 'wars in history have been dishonorable wars,' and he cited the Mexican War of 1846 and the late Spanish-American War, which this nation undertook for the liberation of Cuba, as instances, and, by inference, that our present war is another of the same sort.

"I am sure that a man who votes and talks in the above manner ought not to be in Congress."

Monetary.

STANDARD SILVER PRICE IS AIM OF SENATE BILL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Melting into bullion of not more than 250,000,000 silver dollars now in the Treasury for sale and export to pay trade balances and repurchase of silver at $1 an ounce is proposed in an administration bill introduced today by Senator Pittman as an emergency war measure. Silver certificates would be withdrawn from circulation as the dollars are taken from the Treasury and Federal reserve bank notes of $1 new and $2 denominations substituted.

If enacted, the measure virtually would fix a standard price for silver at $1 an ounce, several cents above the present market, and stabilize the world market, since the United States produces almost half the total. The bill also is intended to stimulate silver production and to use the Treasury's reserve stock of that metal, instead of gold, to settle this country's commercial trade balances in the Orient and elsewhere.

In anticipation of action of Congress, Raymond T. Baker, director of the mint, has formulated an agreement with silver producers and dealers to sell to the government at the $1 rate. The probable result would be for the government to absorb the country's entire output, about 74,000,000 ounces last year. Officials have stated they would make arrangements to supply quantities of silver to jewelers and manufacturers requiring it.

ARCADIA BALLOON SITE MAY BE ABANDONED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 9.—The projected Arcadia balloon station may be abandoned by the War Department unless some powerful measures are resorted to at once. The War Board has directed Gen. Squier of the Signal Corps to go no further with the Arcadia programme at present. Congressman Osborne has asked that no action be taken until Carl McStay, representing the Chamber of Commerce, can return to Washington. He is now in Dayton, O., and is expected here tomorrow or next day. On his arrival the matter will be disposed of definitely.

Congressman Osborne has arranged for an interview and it is believed that Senator Phelan will take a hand in the matter which is of such great and permanent interest to Los Angeles and Pasadena, and, in fact, to all of Southern California.

The War Board says that the United States has enough balloon stations and that no more are justified. It is proposed by the board to enlarge one of the present balloon schools in Texas and thereby accommodate a large number of students for this class of aerial signal work.

In this connection it was announced today that unless Sacramento "cleans up" the situation there its aviation camp will be removed to some other point in California. It is reported that a welfare committee of the camp department of the army said in a recent report that the moral conditions near the proposed aviation camp are extremely bad.

WATTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WATTS, April 9.—Five clubs, two saloons and one cafe were voted out of business at Watts yesterday and the vote for Los Angeles is to be "dry" as the surrounding city. Autoists and patrons of the Pacific Electric will have to purchase tickets through to Venice if they want to be the impelling motive for wanderings, as Venice failed to license establishments. A complete count of the vote gives a majority of 158 for the "dry" workers. While the "dry" workers are celebrating today, the news is generally known that the grand jury is investigating charges that floaters had been brought in to swing the election one way or the other. While there were rumors yesterday, it is to be confidently stated that several are to be indicted although the "dry" campaigners are in a forgiving mood. It is said that an election contest will be started and they announce a determination to fight the matter to the last ditch. Evidence to the effect that "dry" leaders had been buying votes were laughed at by leaders of that faction. It is conceivable that every "dry" challenged was allowed to vote and none withdrew unchallenged, although it was reported several "wet" voters, when they left the booth and did not cast their ballots.

INQUIRY INTO ELECTION BEGUN BY GRAND JURY.

Voting Population Voted at Venice and Watts, are Charges Made.

certain individuals interested in Watts and Venice recently "went" increased the population of those two cities by hundreds of immigrants, with a view to controlling both communities from within at the recent election, and the revelations at yesterday's grand jury inquiry into illegal voting there.

Evidence of voting irregularities of such an abundant nature that investigation is to be resumed today, permitting deputies from the District Attorney's office to present the facts of the case as so far developed, it is said, that a floating population of Venice and Watts was recruited from cheap rooming-houses, the voters being well paid for their time in the undertaking.

Witnesses absent the voting citizens held by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine, Dr. M. Gandier, originator of the Los Angeles "dry" ordinance, Robert C. Barton, secretary of the Efficiency Commission.

WATTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WATTS, April 9.—Five clubs, two hotels and one cafe were voted out of business at Watts yesterday and Watts for Los Angeles is to be "dry" as the surrounding territory. Soldiers and patrons of the Pacific Electric will have to purchase through to Venice if they desire the inspiring motive of intoxication, as Venice failed to close its establishments.

The heavy count of the vote which resulted in a majority of 151 for the "dry" workers was announced today, the news being generally known that the grand jury is investigating charges that fraudsters had been employed to swing the election to the "wets." While there were no returns yesterday, it is confidently believed that several are to be made with the "dry" campaigners, who are in a forgiving mood. Many of the "wet" cause assert that an election contest will be started and they announce determination to fight the matter to the last ditch. The "dry" leaders had been laughed at by those of that faction. It is said that every "dry" vote cast was allowed to stand and none withdrew upon challenge. It was reported that 1,000 "wet" voters, when they left the booth, had cast their ballots.

The vote for City Trustees and other city officials follows:

Trustees—Hans D. Anderson, 710; William Diller, 151; Joseph L. DuBois, 401; Patrick Kelly, 86; Carl H. Platt, 395; Calvin W. Sanders, 382; Louis R. Smith, 78; Rolle N. Smith, 56; Zera Asher Towne, 772; John V. Zimmerman, 718.

City Clerk—Sarah A. Smith, 794; Walter L. LeFavor, 414.

City Treasurer—Christena Burgess, 456; Thomas J. Neal, 720.

SIERRA MADRE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SIERRA MADRE, April 9.—The citizens' ticket, known as the Loyalist party, won a complete victory at the polls yesterday. W. H. Holabird, capitalist; Robert Mitchell, attorney; T. M. Webster, building contractor, and W. S. Saunders, architect, were elected City Trustees by overwhelming majorities. E. F. Ballou was elected City Clerk and Carl Pegler, City Treasurer. With C. C. Nourse, architect, as a holdover Trustee, it gives the Loyalists complete control of city affairs.

Former Mayor Louis Dietz was snowed under in his race for City Clerk.

W. H. Holabird probably will be appointed Mayor by the other members of the city board. He received the highest vote, 541, the next highest being Attorney Mitchell with 512 votes.

The main issues in the campaign were Loyalism and Pro-Germanism.

Mrs. Minnie Kimball, a member of the election board and an enthusiastic American patriot, was instrumental in straightening out difficulties that arose at the opening of the polls and was highly complimented by a number of voters who were detained by the unpreparedness.

SOUTH PASADENA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, April 9.—In the tamest election South Pasadena has ever known, six candidates were voted into office by a practically unanimous vote. There were just enough candidates to fill the offices. An amendment to the city charter, providing that Council members should receive a salary of $20 a month, was defeated by a 2-to-1 vote. Less than one-third of the registered voters cast their ballots.

E. T. Grua, W. L. Hinman and H. D. Lanfair were elected to the Council, full term, while Walter A. Gillett received the short-term office. B. V. Garwood was re-elected City Clerk, and Cyrus E. Mungor, City Treasurer.

LICENSES TOO HIGH; GIVE UP.

Over Two Hundred Holders of Liquor Permits Quit Business.

Unable to meet the overhead expenses and the stiff license fees since the operation of the Gandler ordinance, many liquor-selling establishments are going out of business. Secretary McKeag of the Police Commission yesterday reported that 230 holders of licenses have suspended business since midnight of March 31.

Among the places closed during the past week were the Bristol and Portola cafes and the wholesale houses of Joseph Shapiro, No. 116 West Sixth street, and Hilf & Nathan, No. 1261 East Sixth street.

A total of 188 saloons were closed by the ordinance. Nineteen wineries, four restaurants, three bottling works and four social clubs have voluntarily closed. These places produced $35,000 revenue each month for the city.

HERMOSA BEACH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HERMOSA BEACH, April 9.—P. B. Guernsey, Joseph P. Luxford and Dr. Charles Hill were elected Trustees and Benjamin F. Brown and Edwin B. Luxford received 272 votes; P. B. Guernsey, present Mayor of the city, 229 votes; Dr. Hill, 195 votes; B. F. Brown, 250, and E. B. Smith, 287 votes, the latter with no opposition against him. Frank Fredendall was named City Treasurer at municipal election here yesterday. The race for Treasurer was close, with Fredendall leading N. H. Garrison by seventy-seven votes. In the Clerk race Wynne led Thomas Wilson, recently appointed Clerk at death of R. O. Brackenridge, by 303 votes.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 9.—There were 484 votes cast at the election yesterday and there were six candidates for the four-year term of Trustees with two to elect and the vote for each follows: E. E. French, 284; Richard Drew, 171; D. W. Huston, 157; W. J. Williams, 141; L. T. Young, 109; L. Bingle, 58. For the two-year term, Joseph Zazra, with 257 votes, defeated L. M. Lindsey with 201 votes. Charles R. Nutt was elected City Clerk and C. E. Lavering was re-elected City Treasurer.

KERN COUNTY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BAKERSFIELD, April 9.—The drys gained one town in Kern county yesterday. Taft, the metropolis of the west side oilfields, voted dry by a big majority. The towns of McKittrick and Maricopa, also in the west side oil belt, voted to remain wet, McKittrick by fifty-nine and Maricopa by forty-seven majority. Four saloons and a number of cafes and clubs at Taft will have to close under the new edict.

UPLAND.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

UPLAND, April 9.—Owen E. Attwood was yesterday elected City Treasurer over M. W. Palmer, incumbent, by a majority of eight votes, C. K. Francisco, A. H. Johnson and Alden B. Whitney were elected to the Council without opposition and Charles P. Fuller was unopposed for Clerk.

OXNARD.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OXNARD, April 9.—Election day caused little excitement here. Trustees H. H. Eastwood and Leon Lehmann, City Clerk Frank Pettis and Treasurer Ben Virden were re-elected without opposition. Trustee W. H. Lathrop was defeated by William Dunn in the only contest of the day.

VENICE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, April 9.—Venice wets are rejoicing today in the big margin of 509 votes that gave them unquestioned victory yesterday. The old guard politicians are also congratulating themselves and their supporters on the election of the complete slate, A. E. Coles, Trustee; William G. Lutz, Mayor Rutherford B. Harris for long-term Trustees, John G. Harrah for the short term, Thomas H. Hannk for City Clerk and J. T. Peasgood, Jr., returned to the City Treasurer's office. The neck-and-neck race giving Mayor Harris the advantage of only one vote over Clyde W. Holbrook, the independent candidate, will mean a contest, according to Holbrook. He believes that with the race so close there is a strong probability of error. He does not believe that there was any intentional miscount, but will insist upon a recount. In the recall election of last fall a difference of three votes in favor of Harrah was, after a recount, found to be the same number for his opponent, Edward S. Hill, one of the Trustees, who last night failed of re-election.

There was a constant fluctuation in the recorded votes from the various precincts last night, and, although results were pretty accurately given, yet the final figures were not in until this morning.

The complete figures are: Coles, 1425; Lutz, 1213; Harris, 1139; Holbrook, 1138. This means that the new board will be made up of three of the above, with one eliminated as the result of the contest: Edward A. Gerety, with two years to serve, and John G. Harrah, short-term candidate, automatically elected last night, as there was no opposing candidate. Complete returns show the dry ordinance defeated by a vote of 1645 to 1136. The ordinance giving the Trustees a salary of $75 a month instead of $5 a meeting lost by 1278 to 1195, and the ordinance that would have done away with the prohibitive license for jitney busses operating between Venice and Los Angeles lost by a narrow margin of seven votes, 1031 to 1024.

A feature of the election was the big fight put up by Thomas Wilde, incumbent in the City Clerk's office, without any organized support, against Hanna, with plenty of backing. For a long time the issue was in doubt, and Hanna won by only 102 votes, the figures being 1293 to 1191.

The friends of Holbrook are raising money to defray the cost of his contest, and it is claimed that they are ready to back him to the extent of $1000 or more to make certain that no one else is entitled to his seat.

The drys are not much in evidence today. Rev. Russell E. Stark, dry leader, being away for a rest. He stated last night, however, that whether he lost or won, the persons guilty of colonizing, whom he asserted to be at least 137 in number, would be prosecuted, even though the number was too small to affect the result.

PASADENA BARS LIQUOR AGENTS.

Solicitors from Bay City are Warned to Leave.

Police Chief is Ordered to Enforce Ordinances.

Authorities Display Zeal in Drys' Cause.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, April 9.—Incensed by the report that agents of San Francisco liquor houses were soliciting business in the Crown City since Los Angeles had voted dry, Chief of Police W. S. McIntyre, acting after consultation with Harley F. Newell, Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, yesterday sent out notices drawing attention to the ordinances controlling the sale of liquor to several known agents, and stated that beginning next Monday the ordinances were to be enforced to the letter of the law.

While soliciting is forbidden in Pasadena, several agencies have been active locally and as a matter of general knowledge, it is these agencies that will come under consideration with the promised police activity. While Pasadena has never been considered a bone dry town, Commissioner Newell is zealous of the continued reputation of the city for temperance. The recent wave of wet and dry activity that has been sweeping over towns in the vicinity of Los Angeles has had a psychological effect that has reached here and the stated intentions of the police is the result.

Pasadena makes particular efforts to conceal the fact that it is tolerant of the moderate and home use of frisky stuff. In the charter it is stated that "It shall be lawful to deliver any such liquors to the hotel, boarding-house, restaurant or drug store for which a permit has been issued, or to any resident at his home, provided that such liquors shall be delivered in receptacles effectively concealed from view, in vehicles without any advertisement thereof or any mark of designation of any manufacturer thereof; any other delivery shall be unlawful."

CELEBRATE VIMY RIDGE.

The victory of Vimy Ridge, won by the British forces a year ago yesterday and one of the fiercest battles of the world war, was celebrated in quiet fashion by the Canadians and English members of the Pasadena winter colony here yesterday. Maj. E. G. M. Cape of the Canadian artillery, here on recruiting duty, and a number of his friends united in discussing the deeds accomplished on one of the history-making days of the war.

Vegetables that are important in the conduct of war may not be able to vie successfully with the beauty of hot-house and outdoor-grown flowers to be shown at the annual spring flower show to open Thursday for three days at the Hotel Green, but the more prosaic products will have an equally important place in the exhibition.

The show, given by the Pasadena Horticultural Association, promises unsual prominence and beauty this year with many Los Angeles school children, amateur and professional growers in competition for the many prizes. It is the glimpse of California wonders that visitors long remember and which endears them to the advantages of this quarter of the world.

DOCTOR DROPS DEAD IN OFFICE OF BANK.

DR. SHIPMAN, LEADING PHYSICIAN OF SANTA MONICA, SUCCUMBS TO HEART TROUBLE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, April 9.—Dr. Charles Goodrich Shipman, one of the wealthiest and most philanthropically inclined citizens of the Santa Monica Bay district, and a practicing physician of national reputation, died suddenly today in his office in the First National Bank of Ocean Park Building, a bank in which he was a director. The cause of death was a heart affection from which the doctor had been a sufferer for some time. He was on the committee that framed Santa Monica's commission form of government charter.

Dr. Shipman was a native of Wisconsin, being born in Madison, that State, August 27, 1856. He later removed to Ely, Minn., where he had charge of one of the largest hospitals in that commonwealth. He came to this city nine years ago, taking up his residence at No. 147 Fraser street. For some years he was chairman of the Board of Health, under Mayor T. H. Dudley, and a director in the Ocean Park Bank, of which the latter is president.

With his wife, Mrs. Jessie A. Shipman, the deceased was active in Red Cross work, the latter being busied at the Red Cross headquarters on Ocean avenue as an instructor in the workroom when she was notified that her husband was ill. When she reached his side he was dead.

In addition to the widow, Dr. Shipman is survived by a daughter, Mrs. E. L. Crispin of Los Angeles. Her husband, a physician, has volunteered for government service and is now with No. 3 base hospital in Philadelphia.

Dr. Shipman was a prominent member of the Elks and of the local Masonic Lodge, a Shriner and a Thirty-second-Degree Mason, and probably these orders will have charge of the funeral services, which will be under the direction of the O. A. Kirkelie Company of Ocean Park. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

Famous in a Day for Her Beautiful Complexion Oatmeal Combination Does It

A Free Prescription Does Its Work Overnight. You Can Prepare It At Your Home.

New York: It is my own discovery and it takes just one night to get such marvelous results, says Miss Edna Wilder, when her friends ask her about her wonderful complexion and the improved appearance of her hands and arms. You can do the same thing if you follow my advice she says: I feel it my duty to tell every girl and woman what this wonderful prescription did for me. Just think of it! All this change in a single night. I never tire of telling others just what brought about such remarkable results. Here is the identical prescription that removed every defect from my face, neck, hands and arms. Until you try it you can form no idea of the marvelous change it will make in just one application. The prescription which you can prepare at your own home is as follows: Go to any grocery and get 10 cents worth of ordinary oatmeal, and from any drug store a bottle of derwillo. Prepare the oatmeal as directed in every package of derwillo and apply night and morning. The first application will astonish you. It makes the skin appear transparent, smooth and velvety. I especially recommend it for freckles, tan, sun spots, coarse pores, rough skin, ruddiness, wrinkles, and, in fact every blemish the face hands and arms are heir to. If your neck or chest is discolored from exposure apply this combination there and the objectionable defect will disappear as if by magic. It is absolutely harmless and will not produce or stimulate a growth of hair. No matter how rough and ungainly the hands or arms, or what abuses they have had through hard work and exposure to sun and wind, this oatmeal-derwillo combination will work a wonderful transformation in twelve hours at the most. Thousands who have used it have had the same results. It always does.

Note: To get the best effect be sure to follow the complete directions contained in every package of derwillo. You have only to get derwillo and oatmeal. You need nothing else and it is so inexpensive that any girl or woman can afford it. The manufacturers and druggists guarantee that there will be a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money. It is sold in this city under a money refund guarantee by all department stores and by all druggists, including Logan, McKay & Menkman, Voeckel and all Owl and Sun Drug Co. Stores.

JACK QUINN TURNS TRICK.

Vernon Twirler has Angels Begging for Mercy.

Bill Essick's Club is a Nifty Looking Aggregation.

Games Hereafter to Begin at Two Thirty.

BY EDWIN F. O'MALLEY.

Vernon 4, Los Angeles 0. It was simply a case of Jack Quinn first and the rest nowhere, like the mighty Eclipse of old on the English turf. The ball whirred over the plate in all kinds of elusive dips from the twirl of a dancing dervish to the twist of a St. Vitus expert. Jack not only had the Angels up in the air, but had them on their knees begging for mercy. At no time of the game did they threaten to circle the bases.

Let's hand it to Bill Essick. He's certainly got a mighty nifty club together and with that Tiger pitching staff back of him if he doesn't finish in the first division next October, then there's something wrong with baseball dope. His henchmen performed in excellent style and apart from Mathes, who by the way was bombarded almost to death, played faultlessly.

Borton and Long, who batted indifferently up north, suddenly discovered their swatting orbs (this was to be expected) and away went the pill from their war clubs. We doubt very much, however, whether either of their smashing hits would have found mother earth were old Shucker working in his accustomed habitat. Schick appeared to be afflicted with flickering lamps, owing presably to the low visibility, and stabbed the air like a floundering catfish in his misjudgment.

We do not wish to pass final judgment on this young man, as heretofore he has shown to good advantage. It may, simply have been an off-day for him, a weakness which happens to some of the best players in the world at times. Let us hope that he comes back today and show that he is made of the real stuff. He is, in a measure, handicapped in attempting to keep up the standard in center set by that past master in the art of fielding, Harl Maggert, if you please.

The Tigers appeared to be permeated from stem to gudgeon with the spirit of the late, lamented Happy Hogan, and put up one of those contests that in former years made Happy's name a household word in Los Angeles. We don't know whether they can keep up this clip against so formidable an organization as the Killefers, but if they are able to take the present series, they will have proved themselves a mighty important factor in the year's race.

Any time a club spots Jack Quinn one runs it's almost Kitty bar the door for his opponents. Here is how it happened: Jack himself walked. Daley put a tough one to Babe over the foul line, but the bucolic baby was there with the glimmers. Mitchell forced Quinn at second, Terry to Killefer. Mathes plunged one into left, Mitchell moving to second. Long ripped one over Schick's noodle scoring Mitchell and Mathes. Borton out Terry to Fournier. Two runs, two hits. The crowd might just as well have gone home then and there.

JACK-A-DREAMS.

Babe Borton featured in the Punch and Judy line. Babe pulled a Jack-of-dreams in the last of the eighth that made old Morpheus knock himself into hiccoughs. With one out, Boles hit a screamer to Schick's crack first sacker. Borton muffed it and slowly and triumphantly planked his No. 6 shoe on the first bag. Ellis, who was on first at the time, scudded to second. Babe, in the flush of his triumph, walked with a prideful step toward the dugout. The shouts of his team mates brought him to, and then it suddenly dawned on him that he had suffered an confiscation of his knowledge box.

Babe thought there were two out all the time. All he had to do was to touch first, and toss the ball to second to complete an easy double play. Borton, however, is not prone to blunders of this kind and with this little gibe we will pull off of him.

The street parade prior to the game was one of the most pretentious of its kind ever held in Los Angeles. After the clubs had passed through the principal streets of the downtown district they returned to the grounds. Here, headed by the excellent Submarine band of San Pedro, they carried Old Glory to the big flag staff at the left end of the field and raised the national emblem.

Just before the contest Gertrude Hoffman took the mound and pitched the first ball to Lottie Pickford. Teddy Sampson umpired.

The games hereafter will be started at 2:30 p.m. The attendance was unusually large and clearly proved that baseball is as popular as ever in Los Angeles. The score:

GREAT LAKES MARVEL MAY BE OUT OF IT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 9.—Sickness may prevent Perry McGillivray from participating in the 500-yard National A. A.U. championship against Norman Ross tomorrow at the C.A.A. pool. The Great Lakes marvel has a touch of grip and his condition is far from O.K. He is eager to splash with the Californian, whom dopsters pick to smash the record and local followers are of the belief that the ex-I.A.C. natator will give the San Franciscan a bristling race.

Wallen, Lauble, Leach, Pickle and Simonsen, are also enrolled in the race.

Mike McDermott, 220 breaststroke champion, who has been under the weather for some time, entered the I.A.C. tank today and cut through the water in 2:40 without exerting himself. Biersach now of the C.A.A., who set conference circles afire when he was flying the colors of Wisconsin, will make his debut in the select circle tomorrow night against McDermott. Ross is also an entrant in this event.

FOUR BIG SCHOOLS OUT OF REGATTA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) April 9. — Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Cornell will not participate in the American Henley regatta here May 18, it was announced by the athletic authorities at the Naval Academy today. The general curtailment of athletics for the spring was given as the reason. Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Columbia and the navy crews will participate.

VENICE WINS GAME THEN BREAKS LOOSE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, April 9.—The student body of Venice High School and its friends celebrated royally last night. The cause of the scholastic frivolity was a 4 to 2 victory by the Venice High baseball nine over their next door rivals the Santa Monica High team. Be it known that this is the first time in the history of Bay athletics that Venice High has scored a victory over Santa Monica in any line of sport activity. Hence the vigor of the merrymaking. Following is the score:

Venice, 4; hits, 9; errors, 4.
Santa Monica, 2; hits, 7; errors, 4.
Batteries—Venice, Armstrong and Conley; Santa Monica, Strickfaden and Turnmeier.

FROMME WILL TRY TO PUZZLE THEM TODAY.

Fromme will hurl the sphere for Vernon today against the Angels, was the statement of Bill Essick last night. Bill says he wants to thank the Vernon rooters for the floral horseshoe he was presented with yesterday, and also wants to express his gratitude for the way they cheered his team to victory. Bill didn't gush too much over it all, but he meant it just the same.

DOWNEY NINE JUST NOSES OUT VICTORY.

The Downey baseball nine nosed out a 3 to 2 win over Hollywood in a close game played yesterday afternoon. Rudd and Kincaid composed the winning battery, while Wheeler and Slocum did the heaving and stopping respectively for the Foothill swatters.

CLUB CUP PLAY ON BRENTWOOD LINKS.

Club cup play was continued at Brentwood Sunday with Roy Tufts defeating Newton Foster, 4 up, and 2 to go, while Dr. J. V. Cocke came in ahead of Thomas McCall, 2 up and 1 to go. The final matches, which are scheduled for next Sunday, are Roy Tufts vs. Byron Swearingen and Dr. J. V. Cocke vs. J. R. Clarke.

OXY FRESHIES CAPTURE MEET.

Franklin High Athletes Lose in Tournament.

Lynstrom in Hundred Gets Cheers of Crowd.

Tigers Best in Jumps and Field Events.

The Occidental freshmen piled up a 70-to-43 lead over Franklin High in an informal and hastily scheduled track meet held at Patterson Stadium yesterday afternoon. Lynstrom of Franklin ripped off a 10-1 hundred for the edification of the few fans present, and is threatening to make the real moguls of the cinders waddle some in the A.A.U. meet next Saturday. Superiority in the jumps and field events turned the trick for the Tiger Poagreeners.

The summary:

Mile run: Won by Pitman (O.;) Stringfellow (F.,) second; Tewell (F.,) third. Time, 5m., 32s.

The 100-yard dash: Won by Lynstrom (F.;) Westerfield (O.,) second; Ford (F.,) third. Time, 10 1-5s.

TO PERMIT THRIFT STAMPS AS PRIZES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 9.—Directors of the Western Golf Association today adopted a resolution permitting the 280 clubs in the association to offer Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamps as prizes during the war without affecting the amateur standing of contestants for such trophies.

Heretofore to contest for money prizes has made a golfer a professional, and with recent suggestions that silver cups and other trophies be supplanted by war loan certificates, the question had been raised as to whether these were pecuniary prizes.

It is estimated that $100,000 will be spent by golf clubs in the Western Association for government war securities under this plan. The ruling, it is said, will encourage the playing for Thrift Stamps among individuals and thereby increase the sale.

WORLD CHAMPIONS THEMSELVES AGAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARSONS (Kas.) April 9.—Our world's champions are showing improvement. A few days back they were not equal to the pace of the Texas League teams, but today they walloped an American Association aggregation and performed the job neatly. The victims were John Gannel's Kansas City Blues, who succumbed to a flock of base hits and some cold weather by a count of 14 to 4.

BEAUMONTERS FAIL TO DEVOUR POMONA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, April 9.—The Beaumont High School nine came to this city today heads erect, eager for victory over Pomona High. Findlay, formerly of Pomona High, now runs the Beaumont High team and he had issued bulletins that his nine would simply eat Pomona alive. The returns after the diamond conflict show that he spoke too soon or to put it in another way he "counted his chickens before they were hatched." The final score read: Pomona, 13; Beaumont, 2.

DEMPSEY PLAYING IN TOUGH LUCK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) April 9.—If something isn't done to adjust matters between Jack Dempsey and John the Barber, Jack is going to find himself in a bad financial way. He had two fights called off because of John the Barber and yesterday he was forced to call off his theatrical contract here.

FENCING CARD FOR BELGIAN BENEFIT.

A promising fencing card will be staged at the Castle San Souci, corner of Argyle and Franklin streets, Hollywood, Saturday evening for the benefit of Belgian babies. Adjt. Henri Uyttenhove, a member of the Belgian army and wearer of the Belgian Cross of Honor, will tackle Emile Wietz, fencing trainer of Douglas Fairbanks. Later in the evening a challenge clash between Uyttenhove and P. R. Rockahard of the L.A.A.C. will be put on with Charles Winsell, the Belgian Consul, as referee.

WAGNER QUITS GAME FOR GOOD.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 9.—Hans Wagner, for many a year king ball player in the National League, has quit the game for good. He threatened to quit several years ago, but the Pittsburgh folks would not stand for his going.

This time, however, he has retired for good and with his departure has gone the last but one of the great players who were in the big league twenty years ago.

The one remaining old-timer is Nap Lajoie, who played at second and managed the Toronto club of the International League last year. Instead of quitting, Lajoie is a come-back and will either manage Indianapolis or cover second this year for Brooklyn.

This great player was born at Woonsocket, R. I., September 5, 1875, of French parentage and is the most important personage in American history born in Rhode Island since the revolution.

TUNA CLUB CHOOSES OFFICERS FOR YEAR.

ORGANIZATION IS IN GOOD FINANCIAL CONDITION; FISH IN PLENTY.

The annual election of the Tuna Club of Santa Catalina Island was held at Avalon Saturday and the following board of directors was elected: J. A. Coxe, Judge J. M. York, Ralph Bandini, Elmer M. Bray and George E. Pillsbury, Jr. The board met yesterday in Los Angeles and elected the following officers: President, J. A. Coxe (re-elected;) vice-president, Judge John M. York; secretary, Ralph Bandini. The club manager will be selected in the near future.

The annual report of President Coxe showed the Tuna Club to be in excellent condition. Three years ago the clubhouse was destroyed by the fire which devastated Avalon.

Today the club has a new clubhouse, larger and better equipped than its predecessor. The building and equipment are all paid for; the club does not owe a dollar; it has $1800 in its treasury, in addition to a $500 Liberty Bond. A subscription of $600 to the third Liberty Loan has been agreed upon.

The membership has been increased during the past year, while the fishing for big game fish has been the best that has been enjoyed for many years past. During the season seventy-two spearfish (marlin swordfish) and 342 tuna were recorded by anglers on the records of the Tuna Club. Fifteen of the tuna weighed over 100 pounds each, the remainder averaging 50 pounds.

ENTRIES FOR A.A.U. MEET CLOSE TONIGHT.

Entries for the annual A.A.U. track and field championships will close this evening at 6 o'clock, the competition to take place at Bovard Field next Saturday. All competitors must be registered in good standing with the A.A.U. and should turn in their blanks to Bob Weaver, Dean Cromwell, Wallace Robb or Vic Ligda, before the time limit is reached tonight.

Gold, silver and bronze medals in each event and the T. V. Allen perpetual trophy for the team scoring most points will be at stake. The order in which they will be run off are: 100-yard dash, trials; 880-yard run; 100-yard dash, final; 120-yard hurdle, trials; one-mile run; 440-yard dash; 120-yard hurdle, final; 220-yard dash, trials; 220-yard hurdle, trials; two-mile run; 220-yard dash, final; 220-yard hurdle, final; one-mile relay; open (four men;) pole vault, putting sixteen-pound shot; running high jump; throwing discus; running hop, step and jump; running broad jump.

SPECIAL EVENTS.

The 100-yard dash, high schools; 75-yard dash, grammar schools; one-half-mile relay, high schools, four men, each running 220 yards.

USED CAR SHOW IS DRAWING CROWDS.

A novel used-car show is being held this week by the Willys-Overland Company of California. The shortage of automobiles both old and new, lends especial import to an occasion of this kind, the many visitors being of the universal opinion that the machines on display resemble a collection of new cars more than a group of second-hand ones.

BERNARD HIGGINS IS ORDERED TO FRONT.

Bernard Higgins, members of the well-known athletic Higgins family and former Rugby player of note at Santa Clara, has been ordered to the front as a commissioned officer. Higgins formerly held a commission in the Australian army and has decided to leave private life to fight for his country.

STANDARD MURPHYS TO TACKLE MIDDIES.

The Standard Murphys and Naval Reserve clubs will clash next Sunday afternoon at La Habra. In the future the Naval Reserve plans to play three games per week, on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays. All aggregations wishing to schedule clashes with the seamen should see Bill Goodman at the Dyas store.

NEW BASEBALL CHIEF.

Glen Scofield, center on Poly High's last football team, has been appointed baseball manager for the Mechanic institution.

ADAMS GETS DECISION IN VERNON RING BATTLE.

MATCHMAKER "WAD WADHAMS" of the Vernon Athletic Club presented a sextette of bouts at Jack Doyle's pavilion last night that fairly palpitated with continuous action. The boys were happily paired and the contests in the main productive of that style of fisticuffs that keeps the fans on top of their chairs most of the time.

Jack Doyle, the presiding genius, sat, as usual, in the lookout chair This meant "no dull moments, boys, and a little more ginger in the fourth round," and my, how the ladies heeded his words! Jack has established these four-round bouts into a habit, and the habit bids fair to last for many moons.

The main event of the evening was a catchweight affair between Georgie Adams and Al Grunan. The first round was about an even break. Adams had a nasty way of holding on and hitting. He was booed by the crowd and warned by the referee. The second round was easily Grunan's and at times his uppercut went true to the mark without a return.

MOVES UP.

The third round was Georgie's. It was here that he began to move up. It appeared for a while as if he were milling under wraps. The last round found Adams playing for the stomach. At this style of boxing he was easily Grunan's superior. The round was his through his heavy body blows. He was given the decision and well merited it. We believe Adams can show more than he did last night.

Sidney White substituted for Battling Nick in the night's opener. His opponent was Charlie Blair. They beamed at 118 pounds. Blair carried the battle to his adversary for the first three rounds, but in the final mix-up White came strong and had the better of the milling. When the gong sounded there wasn't much to choose between them. White was awarded the verdict.

Jumping Jack Battling Frankie dressed mitts with Fred McManus, the Jersey skesier, in the second set-to. Frankie tried to haymaker himself into an early victory, but lacked judgment of distance. The boys fought fast throughout, but were very tired at the end. The bout was declared a draw.

GOOD LEFT JOB.

Ted Frenchie and Charlie Roselli, at 116 pounds, put up a humdinger scrap. The boys were well matched. Ted had a dandy left jab, but Charlie was there with a right uppercut that played havoc at times. This set-to was one of the best ever seen at the pavilion and the boys are worthy of a main event. They fought to a draw.

Frankie Burns and Eddie Huse hooked up in the fourth bout at 145 pounds. Burns proved the sturdier and fought his way into an easy decision.

The semi-windup brought Kid Mende and Eddie McAuliffe together at catchweights. The fighting was fast and furious from gong to gong. Mende landed the harder blows and reached the mark oftener, but was himself very tired at the end. McAuliffe fought gamely throughout and put up a good exhibition. Mende was justly given the verdict.

Angling.

KERN FISHING GOOD NOW; BAIT AND SPOON WANTED.

DEPUTY FISH AND GAME COMMISSIONER A. J. STOUT, who has just returned from patrolling Kern River and the steams on Greenhorn Mountain, states that the water has cleared up rapidly since the opening and fishing is fairly good right now, with every probability of limit catches of good-sized trout for abis bait fishermen this next week-end.

There is very little snow on the western slopes of the Sierras, but plenty of it on the Inyo side, more than in years at this time. Continued hot weather will bring down snow water for a time and ruin the fishing in the Kern. At present it is well worth a trial.

The main Kern is full of fish ranging from eight to sixteen inches, eager for a nickel-brass spinner baited with worm. In the side creeks they are taking worms better than anything else. Salmon eggs are of little use in the Kern or its tributaries. The fish do not get a chance to become accustomed to any diet to the same extent that they do in the coastal streams, where the annual steelhead run encourages "roe chasers."

A good road admits automobiles above Kernville to within five miles of Brush Creek and is in very fair shape now. This makes the sport easily accessible. It is of little use to try the fly as yet, although fishing probably is better than it will be in another month.

The Greenhorn Mountain streams are in prime condition and full of fish. Cedar and Pozo Creeks are full of big fish fourteen to sixteen inches in length, willing to hit a small copper-nickel Wilson spinner, about size No. 1, and they will take worms freely also. Lumro Creek is swarming with little fellows six to eight inches, greedy for a fat worm, and no trouble to get a limit in a couple of hours. These creeks are reached via Bakersfield over a very fair road and cars can be driven right to the streams.

All kinds of game, deer, quail, and even bear, seem plentiful, the deputy reports.

Some idea of the work of a deputy of the Fish and Game Commission which enters into the daily grind may be gathered from the quarterly report of Henry J. Abels, who handles State affairs of this nature in Santa Barbara county. Since January 1 this energetic and efficient officer made twelve arrests, covering 2176 miles in automobile and on foot; he convicted eleven offenders, the other, a boy, being reprimanded and released on probation. Abels checked and examined seventy-seven angling licenses and eighty-six hunting licenses; besides this, took a leading part in the Liberty Loan and Thrift Stamp selling campaigns, as have indeed all the State's fish and game patrolmen, who collectively have covered an immense territory in behalf of the great cause. This has become a part of the work.

MATILIJA FISHING REPORTED BANG UP.

Fishing in the Matilija Springs district is reported to be better than ordinary. Roy Zoller hooked the two largest specimens of the season on the Ventura, Sunday, one of the beauties measuring thirty-three inches and the other twenty-seven inches. Other members of the party were Irving Nutt, Bob Weaver, Al Reed, Lloyd Mangus, J. F. Degan, I. Keller, Ray Barton and Bill Cochrane.

FOUR PREP GAMES ON FRIDAY'S CARD.

Play in the prep baseball league will be resumed Friday, with four games on the slate. Pasadena will take on Manual at Manual, while Long Beach is to battle Poly at Prueger Park. The other contests are: Hollywood vs. L. A. at L. A., and Pomona vs. Jefferson at Jefferson.

BOWLING NEWS.

Quite a number of changes took place through last week's play in the handicap tournament now going on at the Majestic alleys.

The E. Richard Just quartette took three games from Wilson & Co., and, with the assistance of the San Fernando Who, by the way, are from the valley town, who handed out a beautiful drubbing to the Allies, who have been holding the league from the start, the rubber men jumped into first place. HE'LL RULE YOU IF—

He Will Rule You

if you falter in your determination to do your part. Our boys already have experienced suffering and death on land and sea—defying bullet, shell and the tortures of POISON GAS. They have willingly given their lives "away off there in NO MAN'S LAND," fighting valiantly, to keep the monster—KAISERISM—from YOUR home.

And Yet—

There are Americans who do not realize that their very existence as freemen and freewomen is at stake. If you are one of them—WAKE UP! Get into the fight TODAY and do your part. You're not safe until KAISERISM with all its evil influence is forever crushed.

Don't think that your safety lies in distance. Unless you do your duty as an American, YOUR fate will be no better than that of the unfortunate peoples of Europe who now suffer under the MAILED FIST of KAISERISM. Your support is vitally necessary to the success of the BOYS OVER THERE.

Buy a Liberty Bond Today and Wear This Emblem of Patriotism

Facts About the Third Liberty Loan

The campaign will run from April 6th to May 4th.

Payments on Liberty Loan subscriptions are as follows:

Initial payment May 9th, 5%; second payment May 18th, 20%; third payment July 18th, 35%; fourth payment August 15th, 40%.

Third Liberty Loan Bonds are ten-year gold bonds, payable 1928, bearing interest at 4¼%. Interest dates from May 9th, 1918.

Applications must be accompanied by a payment of 5% of the amount of bonds applied for or by payment in full. Bonds will be in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1000 and $10,000 and $50,000.

Important

The terms as outlined above do not apply to the purchase of $50 and $100 bonds. The banks are making special terms to the small bond purchaser of 10% down and 10% monthly.

Every Liberty Bond---a Weapon Against Kaiserism

Now that we have ungrudgingly aligned ourselves in this conflict with the nations contending for a better, grander, nobler world, it is time for YOU to show your patriotism—NOT BY WORDS but BY ACTION! YOUR help is needed NOW more than ever before. It is far better to pay for a LIBERTY BOND—the price of FREEDOM and DECENCY than to pay TRIBUTE to KAISERISM!

WHAT'S YOUR FREEDOM WORTH? You must choose today for yourself and posterity—FREEDOM or SLAVERY. Your dollar today will tip the scales on the side of right. Your failure will tip the scales on the side of might. You owe it to your country, to your family and to yourself, to act NOW! BUY LIBERTY BONDS TODAY!

Spend for Your Country and Get it Back With Interest—Be a Patriot

War-garden Lecture.

"Enemies of the War Garden" will be the subject of the noon lecture at the Chamber of Commerce today. H. W. Shepherd, instructor in agriculture at the Manual Arts High School, will be the speaker, and will tell how to avoid insect and rodent pests, which frequently overcome efforts of the amateur gardener. The lectures are free.

Y.W.C.A. Bible Course.

The democratic teachings of the Old Testament prophets will be considered tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock, in the study course on "The Bible and Democracy" at the Y.W.C.A. This study is free to all who may be interested. Prof. E. J. Hopkins addressed the Business Women's Council of the Y.W.C.A. last evening, giving hints in reading war news.

Five Hundred Party.

On Saturday evening there will be a five hundred party for the benefit of the Fifty-fourth and Vermont Auxiliary of the American Red Cross at the home of Mrs. David Merchant, No. 827 West Fifty-third street. This auxiliary meets every Tuesday and Thursday all day in the church at Vermont and Fifty-third streets, and it needs workers very badly.

Cherry Blossom Tea.

The Cherry Blossom Tea held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Williams, No. 840 North Avenue 66 on Saturday afternoon, last, for the benefit of the Garvanza and Highland Park Auxiliary was most satisfactory both socially and financially. The house was pleasingly decorated with flags and spring blossoms, which were arranged Japanese fashion. Preserved cherry blossoms from Japan floated in the tea cups, adding novelty. There was also a delightful programme. Mrs. Williams was assisted by Mrs. F. M. Ashley.

On Italy's Part.

Italy's part in the great war will be clearly and definitely explained at Trinity Auditorium, this evening, when Dr. Charles Upton Clark of the American Academy in Rome will give his first public lecture. Prof. Clark speaks with the official approval of the Italian government, which has aided him in securing a remarkable series of motion pictures showing both the Italian army and navy in action. The underlying causes of the Italian retreat will be made clear by Prof. Clark, who comes to America confident of the success of the new Italian campaign.

COLLAPSES ON STAND.

Woman Defendant in Damage Suit for Death of Girl is Overcome.

While the $25,273 damage suit of John W. and Mary Koehl against Adolph D. and Julia L. Carpenter for the death of their daughter, Mae C. Koehl, at Seventh and Anderson streets, November 27, last, Mrs. Carpenter driving the automobile which struck her, was being tried in Judge McCormick's court yesterday, Mrs. Carpenter collapsed on the stand.

She had answered the preliminary questions and became hysterical. An osteopath was called and worked over the woman in the judge's chambers. When Judge McCormick found that she was unable to resume the stand, he continued the case until Friday afternoon.

Death Strikes.

TWO KILLED IN DAY'S MISHAPS.

Auto and Street Car Cause Fatal Accidents.

Woman Returning from Grave of Husband is Victim.

Motorcar Driver Released Pending Inquest.

Traffic accidents in which street cars, automobiles and a tragic coincidence that timed the death of one woman exactly one year from the death of her husband, played a gruesome part, yesterday claimed two victims in Los Angeles, and injured four others, two of them seriously.

Mrs. James Cushing, 73 years old, of No. 114 North Ardmore avenue, and Lemuel Watt Young, Sr., 72 years old, a wealthy retired oil man of Pittsburgh, who lived in Los Angeles at No. 1910 South Los Angeles street, lost their lives in the two accidents, both in crowded sections of the city.

Mrs. Cushing, who is the mother of John G. Cushing, manager of the Donovan Lumber Company, was almost instantly killed on Seventh street, between Hope and Grand avenue, when she was struck by the automobile driven by M. Calmy of No. 753 South Olive street, a dealer in motion-picture equipment.

The aged woman was returning from the cemetery where she visited the grave of her husband, who died exactly one year ago yesterday, when the accident occurred.

Mr. Calmy was arrested on the charge of suspicion of manslaughter, but was released pending further investigation.

The second accident occurred at West Adams and Main streets. Young was about to cross the street, the police say, when he became confused by the approach of two street cars, traveling in opposite directions. He was struck and rolled under the wheels of one car, being instantly killed.

Mr. Young leaves a widow and two sons, Lemuel Watt Young, a Standard Oil Company official of Pittsburgh, and Edward E. Young of Tulsa, Okla. The body, now at the mortuary of the Faris Company, will be held for the Coroner's inquest at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and later sent to Tulsa for interment.

Peter E. Buchall, 26 years old, of No. 1241 Waterloo street, an evangelist, and his wife, Alice, 30 years old, were seriously injured when the automobile they were in turned over near Vermont avenue and Hollywood boulevard late yesterday.

A collision between a street car and automobile driven by James M. Day of No. 1222 Girard street, yesterday sent him and William McCracken, 44 years old, a salesman of the same address, who was a passenger in the Day automobile, to the Receiving Hospital suffering from bad cuts and bruises, and possible internal injuries. The accident occurred at Pico and Sentous streets.

WANTS MORE POSTERS.

Chicago Educator Finds no Liberty Loan Appeals in Windows of One Street Here.

"'Bent, but not broken,' is the slogan of the Allies on the field of Picardy," said Prof. S. H. Clark of the University of Chicago in an address before the Ad Club at its luncheon in the Clark Hotel yesterday. "There is another slogan I would call to your attention. How many of you can recall the words of Belgium when Germany gave that gallant nation twelve hours to answer her demand that she be permitted to cross Belgian territory. The words are immortal. Belgium said: 'We do not want to fight, but we have pledged our honor to repel any invader. We trust you will not force us, but if you do we are ready to fight you to the death!'

"We need to be awake to the fact that Germany is not beaten. As I walked down one of your streets today I did not see a Liberty Loan poster in any of the windows in that certain part of town. You should find out why a man overlooks or refuses to put one of these Liberty Loan posters on display."

The speaker then read a letter from his boy, who is in the trenches with the American soldiers. Prof. Clark is the guest of Marshall Stimson, and was introduced yesterday as a booster for the third Liberty Loan drive.

surely did knock out that eczema

Three days ago, my arm was simply covered with red, itching eruption and I thought I was up against it for fair. But Joe had a jar of Resinol in his kit. I used a little and the itching stopped right off. In the morning most of the redness was gone and a couple more applications finished it up.

Resinol is sold by all druggists.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, April 9.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Meteorologist.] At 5 o'clock p.m. the barometer registered 30.01; at 5 p.m., 29.98. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 69 deg. and 71 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 64 per cent.; 5 p.m., 48 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northwest, velocity 4 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 7 miles. Highest temperature, 79 deg.; lowest, 50 deg. Rainfall for season, 12.61 inches; last year to date, 14.50 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The progress continues high over the central portion of the United States, where temperatures are generally below freezing north of Tennessee. Another area of high pressure is off the California coast, and between this area and the central field of high barometric pressure there exists an area of low pressure, which resulted in light rain throughout Washington, Oregon, and into California as far south as San Francisco. The greatest precipitation, .72 of an inch, fell at Eureka. The proximity of this depression gave partially cloudy weather in portions of southern California Tuesday morning, and it is believed that further unsettled conditions with unsettled weather and possibly showers will result in Los Angeles and vicinity during the ensuing thirty-six hours.

ORCHARD REPORTS.—Minimum and maximum temperatures from orchards reported to the Los Angeles office of the U. S. Weather Bureau yesterday are as follows:

WITNESSES ALIBI FOR ACCUSED BANK BANDIT

DOZEN TESTIFY THAT MAN WAS WORKING AT TIME OF CRIME.

A dozen employees of a local department store yesterday appeared in Judge Willis's courtroom to testify that Charles Lynn, alleged Culver City bank bandit, was at work in the kitchen of the cafe [illegible] December 5, the day when the Culver City Commercial and Savings Bank was robbed of nearly $11,000 by a trio of bandits.

Lynn is undergoing trial jointly with Raymond M. Kilmoyer, also alleged culprits, both of whom were positively identified in court on Monday by Cashier [illegible] Bryant and Fred Bauman as one of the four robbers who participated in the robbery.

The examination of the witnesses at the hands of Deputy District Attorney Doran aroused such excitement that Judge Willis finally ordered order by a threat to give one of the more boisterous spectators a term in the County Jail.

Despite the unexpected rush of alibi witnesses, Deputy District Attorney Doran announced last night that there was no evidence to [illegible] his contention that Lynn could have left the department store before noontime and gone to Culver City and returned in time to be on alibi in case of his arrest. The trial will be resumed this morning with a further examination of alibi witnesses.

OUST PATROLMAN FOR ALLEGED DISLOYALTY

SEDITIOUS UTTERANCES OF POLICEMAN QUICK BRINGS MISSAL.

Patrolman Jacob Hartnagel, [illegible] guilty of sedition, was ordered dismissed from the police department yesterday, the order being signed by the Police Commission.

The former patrolman was charged with asserting that he did not blame boys for being slackers and that he would not arrest a slacker. He is also said to have made the remark that President Wilson was no better than the Kaiser.

The case of Hans Max Wolff, who was dismissed by the police department upon complaint of the Department of Justice to the effect that he had uttered seditious sentiments was considered by the Civil Service Commission yesterday morning. There was practically no attempt made to go to the bottom of the affair, however, the matter being referred to the Clerical Committee for a report. This committee consists of Messrs. Bradley and [illegible].

The Police Commission fined Patrolman William E. Hill five days' pay for assaulting a Chinaman. It is understood that Mr. Hill plans to quit the police department next Saturday evening.

LOCAL TEACHER OFF FOR WORK IN FRANCE

POPULAR YOUNG WOMAN TO BE TELEPHONE OPERATOR AND INTERPRETER.

To become an interpreter at a switchboard operator, Miss [illegible] Brown, young Los Angeles [illegible] woman and member of the [illegible] Corps of the government, left last night on the first lap of her journey to France. She is the daughter of Mrs. W. E. Brewster-Smith of [illegible] 165 South Kingsley drive.

Miss Brown is a graduate of [illegible] lesley College, where she received her B. A. degree. She [illegible] Masters degree at the University of Southern California, where she was given a special diploma in French. For several years she taught in the Los Angeles [illegible] school and when she left was a teacher of French at Manual Arts. She was formerly president of the Wellesley Club of Southern California and was a member of the Occidental Woman's Club.

Ever since the war she has been at the head of classes at Manual Arts doing war work. There she and her pupils have made hundreds of garments, bandages and other articles needed by the soldiers and by the war orphans of France and Belgium.

Yesterday she was guest of honor at a faculty luncheon and responded to a toast with a talk on war work. The school held an assembly and several luncheons were given in her honor before she left.

"BOYLAND" RAIDED; FIVE MORE ARRESTED; EVIDENCE SEIZED.

"Rev." Floyd Hardin is Spirited Away to Escape Mob Violence; Dictaphone Records are Confiscated; Deposed Pastor and Women Jailed Here.

Following the arrest in this city on Monday evening of Prince [illegible], wealthy head of the "Boyland" Santa Barbara school for [illegible] of the Department of Justice descended upon [illegible], confiscated a quantity of papers and dictaphone records, made new arrests there, raided the residences in Santa Barbara, seized nine hundreds of copies of seditious books, arrested Rev. [illegible] Greenfield, deposed pastor of the Congregational Church there, brought the prisoners and [illegible] of the evidence to this city by [illegible], where the whole was [illegible] the County Jail at 7 o'clock [illegible].

The prisoners, in addition to [illegible], are Mrs. Mollie Price [illegible] superintendent of "Boyland," [illegible] and Mrs. Frederick Burckhardt. Officers acting under the direction of Special Agent Turner of the Department of Justice searched the residence of Hopkins, Mrs. Burckhardt, Greenfield and [illegible] other alleged sympathizers with anti-war propaganda. [illegible] was turned topsy-turvy. [illegible] records are said to [illegible] regarding the activities [illegible] of Hopkins and [illegible] in Los Angeles last summer and fall. He was found guilty along with Harold Storey and Rev. Robert Whitaker, and was at the same time fined $1200 because of alleged seditious utterances, but stay of execution was secured, pending an appeal of the case.

SPECTACULAR RAIDS.

The Santa Barbara raid was a wholesale and highly spectacular affair. Sixteen officers participated and a large fleet of motor cars was utilized to gather in the evidence.

The first place visited was the Greenfield residence in the fashionable Rivera district. The officers had kept tab on all telephone communications to this place for hours before the descent. Greenfield made no resistance, merely asking to be allowed to get his Bible and inquiring if he could give bail. The big stock of "The Ethics of Murder" and a large bundle of pacifist correspondence, including some letters from Hardin, were seized.

In the raid on "Boyland," the offices of Hopkins and Mrs. Cook were thoroughly searched, as well as the quarters occupied by Hardin while there.

Among the evidence seized was a large number of editorials attacking the government's war policies, clipped from the Los Angeles Examiner and with their principal points underscored in pencil. Hearst editorials on the Mooney case also had been preserved.

On Sunday twenty alleged pacifists held a meeting at "Boyland" and the name of each was secured by the government. The house of each is under surveillance, and many were searched yesterday, though no other arrests were made.

At "Boyland" a letter from Mrs. Hopkins, who is a stepmother of the millionaire, was found. In it she urges him to give up pacifism.

"If La Follette with all his influence could not succeed, how can you expect to?" she writes. "If you continue speaking you will surely be arrested and I cannot carry on the school. Think of the future you have cut out for yourself and of your great ambitions. Now we are at war and it is the duty of every American to stand by his country's flag."

The officers say Hopkins and Greenfield have spent $35,000 during the past year trying to defeat the war. "Boyland" last night was in charge of a lone woman educator and the janitor, while eight small boys are in their care.

None of the sextette now in the toils of the law offered any resistance to arrest. Hardin is coming back peaceably with a deputy United States Marshal. Mrs. Cook, the Burckhardts and Greenfield will be arraigned today before United States Commissioner Hammack.

Prince Hopkins, who was arrested Monday night after having made an address in Burbank Hall, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hammack yesterday, on a charge of having violated the Espionage Act by circulating alleged seditious literature.

He was accompanied by his attorney, John W. Kemp. Bond was fixed at $25,000. The attorney and a few personal friends made an effort to produce the bond, but were unable to do so. An offer from a bonding company was declined by Hopkins. He chose to go back to the County Jail for another night, but expressed the belief that wealthy Santa Barbarans would come to his rescue today.

Hopkins declared that he was hastening to catch a train for Santa Barbara when arrested and not running away from the deputy marshal. In discussing his recent activities among the Socialists, and the circumstances which led up to his incarceration, he said:

"The object of my work is the organization of the people against what we consider the unfair and inhuman treatment of what are known as political prisoners. By that I do not mean alien enemies who are under the orders of the President, interned for the period of the war, but I refer to those American citizens who have at numerous times been sentenced to terms of years' imprisonment, simply because they do not believe in the prosecution of the war.

"The suffragettes who were sent to jail in Washington for presuming to favor equal suffrage; the conscientious objectors who do not believe in war from their point of view; the Socialists who are similarly minded; the I.W.W. who are not in sympathy with the present world outbreak; these are some of the forces that we are trying to line up in favor of legislation that will enable what are known as political prisoners in this country to be released at the end of the war, or when victory shall come to this country, just as political prisoners are pardoned in European countries when the King has a new heir or some great event occurs."

Among the papers taken from Hopkins when captured was one indicating that he was preparing for arrest because of his address at Moose Hall, on March 24. It sets up a denial of practically everything he was reported as having said on that occasion.

TRIAL STARTED.

A jury was selected in Judge Houser's court yesterday and Dr. L. O. Wilcoxon placed on trial on the charge of forging the name of Otis Lish of Lewistown, Mont., to a deed and obtaining money on it. A. R. Eastman, with whom the alleged sale was made, was called as a witness.

SEDITION CHARGED.

Arrest Employee of County Surveyor's Office for Circulating Alleged Unpatriotic Book.

Deputy United States Marshal Bassett yesterday afternoon took into custody G. I. Herrick, an employee in the office of the County Surveyor, charging him with violation of the Espionage Act.

Herrick was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hammack and held in bond of $5000. He was committed to the County Jail.

The specific charge against Herrick is that he printed and published a poem entitled, "Some Pointers," a composition calculated to make trouble among the men at the front.

Herrick at the arraignment denied that he had written the poetry. Asst. Dist.-Atty. Lawson said the poetry was not only very bad, but that it was calculated to cast ridicule upon the soldiers in France. Mr. Lawson also made the statement that there were other unpatriotic individuals in the office of the County Surveyor and that they would be looked after. Herrick was a draughtsman in the office.

JAPANESE ADMIRAL SEES BIG SUNSHINE REVIEW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CAMP KEARNY, April 9.—Four nations, all of them fighting hard against Prussianism, were represented at the review today of the Sunshine Division. While the review was informal, it had all the snap and vigor of previous ones, with the additional training to give the men even a better military appearance. Pronounced words of praise were spoken by the foreign officers representing Japan, France and Great Britain, as the columns of the division, commanded by Brig.-Gen. Herman Hall, commander of California's Eightieth Brigade, filed past the reviewing stand.

The review was given in honor of Vice-Admiral K. Suzuki, and those in the immediate reviewing party were Maj.-Gen. Frederick S. Strong, Admiral Suzuki, Rear-Admiral William F. Fullam, Brig.-Gen. Henri Claudon, second in rank of the French mission in the United States; Rear-Admiral Albert Ross, inspector of the Navy Department, and Maj. V. E. C. Dashwood, M.C., head of the British mission here. The second line included Lieut.-Col. John W. Gulick, chief of staff, as aide to Admiral Suzuki; Lieut. Hugo Johnstone, aide to Admiral Fullam; Capt. De Courtrivron of the French mission, and Capt. L. P. Loriot, head of the French mission here.

As the men passed the stand, Lieut. Mairesse, French instructor at North Island, performed numerous daring evolutions above the parade grounds. At the end of a long tail spin, he came to within 200 yards of the reviewing stand and saluted.

Following the review, Vice-Admiral Suzuki was honored at mess by Maj.-Gen. Strong. At this time he took a rap at the idea of teaching fear in America of the "yellow peril."

"The spirit of the Japanese is white," he said. "Their spirit is fighting the Central Powers of Europe, a peril that is worse than the yellow peril, and it is not yellow either. It is a peril that is reaching its claws north, east, south and west."

Banker and Philanthropist.

JOSEPH D. RADFORD IS SUMMONED BY DEATH.

JOSEPH D. RADFORD, well known in Southern California banking circles, and long active in all philanthropic movements in this city, died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home, No. 1124 West Adams street, after five months' illness. Last December he suffered a severe paralytic stroke while on a visit to his ranch in Oak Glen and had been confined to his bed since then.

Mr. Radford was born in Fond du Lac, Wis., on April 14, 1857, and began his banking career as a messenger in the First National Bank of Fond du Lac; later becoming book-keeper of that institution. In 1896 he came to Los Angeles and became assistant cashier of the National Bank of California, which position he held until 1899, when he went to San Jose as cashier of the Garden City Bank and Trust Company of that city. He returned to Los Angeles in 1907 and became vice-president of the German-American Savings Bank, resigning to become vice-president of the Hibernian Savings Bank, which position he held until four years ago, when on advice of his doctors he gave up active business interests.

Mr. Radford was president of the committee to celebrate the opening of the Owen's River aqueduct, and was a former president of the California Bankers' Association, as well as president of the Los Angeles Playground Commission. Mayor Woodman recently named the new municipal summer playground at Converse Flats after him. He was an active church worker, being an elder of Immanuel Presbyterian Church. He was also a member of the Masonic order.

Besides his widow, Florence Rivers Radford, he leaves two brothers, John W. Radford of Chicago and James B. Radford of Fargo, N. D.

Funeral services will be held from the home, Thursday afternoon, with Rev. Herbert Booth Smith officiating.

CONCRETE SHIPYARD AT LOCAL HARBOR SOUGHT.

Advantages of a Site at Los Angeles are Urged on Government.

A FORMAL application was filed yesterday with the United States Shipping Board at Washington, D.C., on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and the Harbor Commission for the establishment at Los Angeles of a government yard for the construction of concrete ships.

The application was forwarded by telegraph immediately after receipt of news from Washington that the government expects to continue the construction of concrete vessels and to establish additional yards, at favorable points. The chamber and the Harbor Board are represented in Washington by Carl E. McStay.

In the opinion of cement manufacturers and those familiar with the construction of concrete ships similar to the "Faith," launched recently at a northern port, the Southern California coast presents an ideal location for yards.

CLIMATE IMPORTANT.

Climate is a prime consideration, as during the construction of concrete ships, rain or cold is liable to cause damage.

With practically one-half of the year during which no protection against rain would be needed, this section offers the most logical location, it was pointed out. It was also stated that there is an ample supply of high grade cement from five large manufacturing plants within a short distance of the city and there are unlimited resources of crushed rock and sharp sand within a very short distance of the coast.

PLENTY OF SUPPLIES.

Two large plants manufacturing steel rods and bars furnish a guarantee of this sort of supplies and there are considerable stocks of this material in large wholesale iron and steel concerns located here.

Other advantages of locating a plant at Los Angeles Harbor are cheap electric power for operating cement-mixing and pouring machines, an adequate supply of lumber for the making of frames, shipways, etc., and available sites at tidewater for building and launching.

Those familiar with the construction of cement ships declare that while various Pacific Coast ports may claim a certain number of advantages, Los Angeles can truthfully promise every advantage in the construction of such ships.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR HARBOR POWER CABLE.

The Public Service Commission yesterday afternoon awarded the contract for the laying of the submarine cable across the main channel in the harbor to serve the substation to be established at Fish Harbor. It will supply city power to the proposed plant of the Southwestern Shipbuilding Company.

Wells, colonel of the first division, $1,574,950; H. W. O'Melveny, colonel of the second division, $1,463,100, and Stoddard Jess, colonel of the third division, $1,353,355.

Mr. Haldeman announced further that the General Petroleum Company has taken $250,000 worth of Liberty Bonds for itself and its employees in the stations ranging from Seattle to Los Angeles. Its allotment to Los Angeles is $50,000. Joln Brockman, No. 713 Brockman Building, made the largest personal subscription of the day—$50,000.

HART IS LEADER.

Yesterday was a red-letter day among the film stars, so far as the third Liberty Loan is concerned. The biggest single subscription received during the day was from "Bill" Hart, the cowboy of the films. Early in the afternoon he handed Orra E. Monnette, president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, his check for $105,000.

Mr. Hart has accepted Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's invitation to campaign the Western States for the third Liberty Loan. He will begin his tour Friday, starting from San Diego, and will speak here Saturday. In all his public appearances during the bond drive he will be costumed as a two-gun man.

C. B. Bergin of the Hollywood Liberty Loan team received a telegram last night from Charlie Chaplin, who is now in Philadelphia campaigning for the third Liberty Loan. Mr. Chaplin said to enter his subscription for $50,000 worth of Liberty Bonds.

the campaigners were working, and declared that it is easier to sell $300,000 worth in one day than to sell $10,000 worth, under certain circumstances. All of the tail-enders reported many sales of $50 and $100 bonds, and it is evident that the women did a tremendous amount of personal work in order to obtain wide distribution among people barely able to take bonds of the smallest denominations.

H. W. O'Melveny's team won the banner offered as a prize to the organization turning in the greatest amount of subscriptions at the first meeting. A. G. Wells's division won the division banner.

DAY BY DAY.

Immediately after the luncheon at the Alexandria the leaders in the drive, as well as the team and division champions, went to Central Park, where they assisted in raising on the flagpole an indicator which will be used through the campaign. This device is four-sided and can be seen from all directions. Under an eagle with spreading wings is painted "Third Liberty Loan" and the number of millions subscribed said he. "It goes without saying is to be added each day.

Among the speakers at yesterday's luncheon were Supreme Court Justice Henry A. Melvin and Maj. Henry D. Jump. Justice Melvin spoke briefly on the task ahead and urged that everyone do his utmost to roll up an overwhelming amount of money with which to battle Prussianism. He said that men in their prime have been fortunate enough to fall outside the limits of the draft, but that they have no guarantee that they may not yet have to face bayonets in "No Man's Land." He pointed out that the only way to limit the casualities of the war is to pour into it a sufficient amount of gold to overwhelm the Kaiser.

Maj. Jump literally went over the top, making his speech short and pithy. He cautioned the campaigners against overconfidence or indifference, declaring that the issue is worthy of the greatest effort of which true Americans are capable.

"We who are fighting the battles with shot and shell are asking the stay-at-homes for bread and lead," he said. "It goes without saying that we must have it if we are to make the world safe in these coming years. If you supply our needs we will put the lead where it will do the most good.

"The front-line trenches in France," he continued, "are today the frontier of civilization. We've got to prepare ourselves to fight a long and bloody war. It is going to the finish—to the last drop of blood on one side or the other. We must quickly organize ourselves to equip an army greater than our present 1,500,000 and the 700,000 men about to be called into service. We probably will need from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 men before the thing is finished.

"Americans must realize the character of the enemy which has long since been stripped of its thin veneer of Kultur and see it as it now stands forth in all the bestial phases of Hun barbarism. The enemy has made beasts of the European women and slaves of the men captives. If you want to keep Prussianism from overrunning American soil strike straight from the shoulder with a sandbag loaded with gold."

EVERYBODY HELPS.

As Los Angeles is in full swing on the Third Liberty Loan campaign, the Jovian Electric League yesterday called off its meeting, which was scheduled for today, because "the chairman of the programme, the chairman of the day, our speakers and every official and member of the league, as well as the entertainers, want the time to sell another Liberty bond."

The College of Law, University of Southern California, is again to take a part in the Liberty Loan campaign. After a highly successful endeavor on the first and second loans, it is going to organize to beat past performances in the Third Liberty Loan drive. Victor H. Koenig, president of the student body, is chairman of a committee to organize the college. George W. Nix, Lloyd H. Coffman and T. G. H. McKenzie are the other members of the committee.

G. G. Greenwood, chairman of the third Liberty Loan Campaign Committee in Hollywood, has appointed as a committee to handle the campaign among the motion-picture makers the following men: Charles H. Christie, R. N. Stevenson, Robert Herron, Fred Kley and Cecile De Mille.

Big subscriptions have already been reported from Mae Murray, William Farnum, Dorothy Gish, Lillian Gish and William Parsons. Mary Pickford is reported as having bought $100,000 worth of Liberty Bonds. The picture-makers claim that before their campaign ends they will be able to show that at least one Liberty Bond of the third loan has been purchased by every individual connected with the film industry.

One hundred per cent. efficient was marked on the subscription lists for Liberty Bonds of the third series when the drive closed Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the various stores of Earle C. Anthony, Inc. Mr. Anthony topped the list with $10,000 for Los Angeles and a like amount for San Francisco. For the other stores located in San Diego, Bakersfield, Fresno, Stockton, San Jose, Sacramento and Oakland, he subscribed $5000 each. There were no slackers and even the least of the employees reported present.

More than $10,000 have been subscribed by members of the Moreland Motor Truck Company towards the third Liberty Loan drive. Every employee of this company will have purchased his second and in some cases his third bond, before the drive has gone many days.

WOMEN HELP.

At the headquarters of the Women's Liberty Loan Committee, Room 12, City Hall, Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Los Angeles city and county chairman, yesterday afternoon, reported $200,000 as the result of the first day's drive in Los Angeles.

From the various city precincts the Women's Liberty Loan Committee gives a first day's report of $70,500. The Ebell Club committee turned in $28,000; the Friday Morning Club, $10,200; the Woman's City Club, $5700; the Council of Jewish Women, $3850 and the Catholic Women's Club, $2850, making a total for the first day's drive by these five clubs of $50,600. The W.C.T.U. swelled the sum total by $850, while from the Alexandria, the committee in charge there including Mrs. Samuel B. Thomas, chairman, and Mrs. Mary Banning Norris, associate, reported $23,150 as the results of the sale of bonds up to noon, Tuesday.

CHARGE MANSLAUGHTER

Coroner's Jury Finds Autoist is Responsible for the Death of Three-year-old.

Hyman Director, a manufacturer living at No. 661 North Mariposa street, was held responsible for the death of Ethel June Stenzel, 3 years old, of No. 803 North Heliotrope drive, who died from injuries received when she was struck by Director's automobile April 7, according to the verdict of the Coroner's jury at the inquest held yesterday in the parlors of W. M. Strother's mortuary.

Detectives Leon and Gamash, who have been working on the case, placed Director under arrest on the charge of manslaughter immediately following the inquest. According to stories told the detectives by witnesses, Director became confused when he saw the child ahead of him on the road, and failed to stop his automobile until right on top of her. The man was released under a $5000 bond.

CHOP SUEY AND NOODLES TO GO.

Must not be Sold After Five in the Evening.

Oriental Eating Houses to Bow to Food Rule.

Reasons for Shipping Wheat to Allies Explained.

At the request of owners of the chop suey and noodle restaurants in this city, Louis M. Cole, local Food Administrator, telegraphed Ralph P. Merritt last Monday for final information in regard to the selling of noodles and other Chinese delicacies that contain a small portion of wheat flour after 5 o'clock in the evening. Yesterday he received an answer which stated that the Food Administration is unable to make any exception to the rule that wheat products cannot be sold in public eating places in the evening.

It is said that this will mean the closing of more than half the oriental eating-houses in Los Angeles, as well as the places that handle spaghetti and macaroni exclusively. The investment in these different branches of public eating-places is estimated at about $80,000.

According to Frank H. Suffel, license commissioner for the Food Administration in this county, there is considerable misunderstanding as to why wheat should be shipped to the Allies and the use of corn urged for home consumption, and also the seemingly excessive prices charged for the different wheat substitutes.

WHEAT HARDY GRAIN.

"Wheat is being shipped to the Allies and our soldiers abroad because it is the most hardy of all grains and it has been proven that cornmeal and other grains are very liable to mildew and rot before it reaches the other side," Mr. Suffel said. "In Europe they do not know how to use corn as we do in this country and a long educational period would be necessary before they could use it as we do here. Corn is the most perishable of all grains as it has a much softer covering than wheat. The government agents have investigated all this and if it were possible, or to the best interests for the prosecution of this war, they would be shipping corn instead of wheat across the water.

"As for the high prices of the different wheat substitutes, it might be said that the mills in this country are not in a position to take care of the excessive demand on them for these articles. Before the substitutes were ordered to be used, there were only 5 per cent. of the milling companies in the United States that had machinery to grind corn, barley, etc. If a mill with a normal capacity of 1000 barrels of wheat flour a day switched to the grinding of corn, it could put out only 600 barrels per day.

PROFIT REGULATION.

"The government regulation on the profit to be made on the barrel of flour at the mill is 25 cents, so if the miller used his machinery for the grinding of substitutes he would have to advance his profit to 40 cents a barrel to make as much as he did on wheat. This means an advance of nearly a dollar on the barrel by the time it reached the consumer."

Mr. Suffel also called attention to the fact that there are but few restaurants in Los Angeles that are observing the order not to serve bread and other wheat products without the specific order being given by the customer.

"I have been in a dozen of the better restaurants in this city within the last week and in every one of them I was brought bread without my asking for it. This is violating a rule of the Food Administration and will be the subject of an investigation by the members of the Restaurant Central Committee of the local administration next week."

There are no changes in the fair prices for today, according to Chester W. Thompson, chairman of the Fair Price Committee.

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

Announced Wedding.

Coming of much interest to Los Angeles and San Francisco society was that of Miss Harriet Boothe, daughter of Charles Beach Boothe of No. 1 Orchard avenue, South Pasadena, to Robert James Dorland of San Francisco. The ceremony will take place at St. James Episcopal church next Saturday, Rev. Neal Dodd of St. Mary of the Angels, Hollywood, and Rev. W. H. Wooton officiating.

The bride will wear a short white chiffon dress, with tulle veil that just touches the hem of her dress and she will carry a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. She was given in keeping with a wish of her brother, Capt. Sterling Boothe, and was attended by two maids of honor, her sister, Mrs. Charles Bohannon of Los Angeles, and Mrs. John Sellers Barnes of Pasadena. Mrs. Bohannon will wear a gold-colored chiffon and lace, picture hat. Mrs. Barnes's dress will be of white organdie over pale blue chiffon. She wore a white hat and both she and the bride-elect carried arm bouquets of sweet peas.

The bridegroom was attended by Ralph Farrell of San Francisco as best man and the four groomsmen were Charles Gordon Bohannon, Ralph Sellers Barnes and Richard Dorland.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorland left for San Francisco for a few days' honeymoon before going on to Camp Lewis, American Lake, where he has been ordered to report for duty.

Social Affairs.

Many social attentions have been showered on Miss Jane Anderson, who returned here from France and Switzerland and is at the Van Nuys Hotel. Miss Anderson is an Arizona girl who won distinction as a Red Cross worker—a dashing character who was in the trenches, up in the air and down in the "subs." Her book, "Over There," is a great hit in London and she will be an appearance on the screen of a London British army officer after her arrival in New York, which has given rise to a report of her engagement. At any rate she is very much devoted—always with her pockets full of candy for the boys on the tennis courts and on horseback rides. Miss Anderson's first article in The Times brought a pathetic letter from an old gentleman in Arizona, who sent her his only treasure, his dead wife's wedding ring, to be sold for the cause. Several women's clubs and schools have invited this interesting young woman to speak before them and she has done so. She made a sensation on Broadway yesterday in her English riding habit, boots and breeches.

For Mrs. Metcalf.

The arrival here of Mrs. Houghton Metcalf (Lucille Clark) from Providence, R. I., to be the house guest for two months of her sister, Mrs. Walter Brunswig, is the cause for numerous social galeties planned for the future. On next Saturday Mrs. Allan Balch is giving a large luncheon for her at the Alexandria and Capt. and Mrs. Charles Harlow are planning a smart affair in her honor for Wednesday of next week at their temporary home, the Stuart O'Melveny residence, at No. 427 Serrano avenue.

By Mrs. Banks.

One of the delightful post-Lenten affairs was the buffet supper given last evening by Mrs. Thomas Weeks Banks (Martha Woolwine.) Her rooms were beautiful in a profusion of bright blossoms which nodded from big French baskets. Accepting her hospitality were twenty-five guests, some of them from out of town.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Marguerite Eichenhofer of No. 1424 South Manhattan place to Arthur B. Pirr of this city was a surprise. News of the betrothal was told at a luncheon at which she presided on Saturday, having for guests members of the Delta Omega Sorority. She is a daughter of Mrs. R. Eichenhofer.

Dance and Card Party.

Mrs. Jenny B. Wilcox and other members of the Daylight Chapter will give a dancing and card party tomorrow evening at the Fraternal Brotherhood Hall at Eighth and Figueroa streets.

Marries in San Francisco.

Friends of Henry Scott Nottingham of this city will be pleased to learn that on last Thursday he and Miss Alice Baruth Schenkel, daugh-

FLASHES.

Here and There.

ARRIVES WITH BANG.

GRIFFITH'S NEW ONE BREAKS ALL NEW YORK RECORDS.

By Grace Kingsley.

With audiences going wild, with every attendance record of every theatrical production ever put on in New York broken, and with D. W. Griffith acclaimed the man of the hour, Griffith's "Hearts of the World" went over as never theatrical production went over before, according to telegraphic advices received at the Griffith studio in Hollywood yesterday.

Details recite the facts that seats modestly priced at $1.50 are selling for $5, that $1 seats are bringing $4, and that last Sunday night, the occasion of the New York premiere, 5000 persons were turned away from the Forty-fourth-street Theater, where the picture was put on.

Metro Director Arrives.

Will Davis, Metro director, arrived yesterday, and will have charge of the next picture in which Bert Lytell will appear.

Butt to Play Shakespeare.

If Shakespearian revival can uplift the stage, it looks as if next season would see the drama on a very high plane, indeed. Among other super-productions of Shakespeare which are in contemplation will be those sponsored by Lawson Butt, the noted English Shakespearian actor, who appeared with Constance Collier in classic drama. In London, and who was formerly associated with Sir John Forbes-Robertson and Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree. Mr. Butt also played the role of the monk hero, "Androvsky," in Robert Hichens's "Garden of Allah," during the run of the play in New York.

At present Mr. Butt is appearing in leading parts with the Paralta Company, but next November he means to cast off the shackles and limitations of picturedom, and to produce Shakespeare in Chicago. The plays he will put on are "Othello," "Macbeth," "Hamlet" and "Taming of the Shrew."

The productions are to be done without scenery, and with the use of velvet curtains, something on the order of the Gordon Craig method, with lighting effects in the Russian manner, all lightings coming from above.

Astra's Head Arrives.

Louis J. Gasmier, president of the Astra Company, arrived in the city yesterday, and is at the Athletic Club.

Mr. Gasmier will look after the Astra affairs, and will exercise supervision over the new serial, "Hands Up," shortly to be produced with James Horne directing. The story is by Gibson Willets, author of the first film serial ever produced, viz., "The Adventures of Kathlyn," in which Kathlyn Williams starred. Jack Cunningham, well-known scenario writer, prepared the scenario.

Mastercraft Preparing.

Mastercraft is shortly to commence production of four of Thomas Dixon's well-known novels, and F. Eugene Farnsworth, president, is busy engaging the cast and arranging for production. It is likely the pictures will be made at the Paralta studios, and every detail is being carefully arranged for.

The first of the Mastercraft productions will be "The One Woman," an anti-Socialist story, and the cast will be headed by Lawson Butt and Clara Williams, while the supporting cast will be an exceedingly strong one, including such names as Hershall Mayall, Thurston Hall and Joe Dowling.

The three other Dixon pictures to be made by Mastercraft are "The Root of Evil," "The Victim" and "Comrades."

Willoughby with Select.

The noted English actor, Lewis Willoughby, who has lately returned from a starring tour in Australia, has been engaged to play a leading role in "A Pair of Silk Stockings," which will be Constance Talmadge's next Select production.

Such a Fame.

Bessie Love, Paralta star, was awakened by the bombardment which ushered in the new Liberty Loan drive, last Saturday morning.

"I really thought the enemy had arrived," said Bessie, "then I said to myself, 'Pshaw! It's just Mr. Griffith staging some retakes in "Hearts of the World," and I turned right over and went to sleep again.'"

Stage Women Prepare.

A big theater party to be given by Bertha Mann, Morosco's leading woman, at the Morosco Theater, will serve to signalize the launching of the Los Angeles branch of the Stage Women's War Relief Association. The theater party will be held on the afternoon of Friday, April 26.

Louise Closser Hale, the celebrated author and actress, who is also vice-president of this organization, is in Los Angeles and will address the meeting at that time on the purposes and workings of the organization, while Mrs. William Farnum, the traveling representative of the motion picture branch of the association, is arranging an elaborate programme of famous stars for the occasion. Miss Mann will explain the work which the local branch will be expected to do.

The invitations will be directed chiefly to the women of the various war reliefs in Los Angeles, to the clubs and the women of the stage and screen.

The basic purpose of this relief is to supply the needs of the men of the screen and stage who are now in the army and navy, and to protect and assist their families at home.

Headquarters and workrooms for the organization have been established in the Mason Operahouse Building, in a suite donated by Mrs. Ralph Deming, and Mrs. Will Wyatt has been named chairman of the Los Angeles branch.

Galvin Goes to War.

No more of the salvos of applause for Joe Galvin, the Orpheum star who has been scoring a tremendous hit during the past week. Joe has received his call to the army of Italy and will go when the act reaches the East again. His father is a major on the Isonzo front, and he has one brother now in the ranks.

Decided Art too Long.

Theda Bara's mind is at rest on one score. The Fox star received a clipping from a Worcester (Mass.) paper, a couple of weeks ago, in which it was stated that Jane Leblanc, aged 15, a resident of Worcester, had disappeared from her home as the result of having been told she looked like Theda Bara and a consequent ambition to go into pictures.

Yesterday Miss Bara received another clipping, stating the girl had returned home, having decided that art was altogether too long, and that working in a department store was, after all, career enough for her.

Emmy Wehlen will Come.

Commuting across the country from one picture studio to another apparently means nothing at all to some of our picture stars. Now it is Emmy Wehlen, one of the most popular of Metro's luminaries, who is shortly to come West.

He's Now One of Us.

Having bought a beautiful bungalow and a dog license—in short having declared himself a regular citizen in good standing—Bryant Washburn, Pathe star, says he doesn't care whether he ever sees the East again or not—in fact, that he has become what is technically known as a "Coast defender." At present he is working on one of Mildred Considine's stories. Mr. Washburn is looking about for other material for future use, and has about decided on a popular magazine story for his next vehicle.

REVIEWS.

Vaudeville.

BURBANK TO HIPPO.

ALSO A COMEDY AND SOME MOTION PICTURES.

Burbank.

The small price of admission asked for the entertainment provided at the Burbank has filled the house to its capacity in the past. No better amusement than the coupled staging of good vaudeville and the screening of good photoplays could be asked for, and if this sort of entertainment cannot bring the pennies to the box office nothing ever will. This week the Burbank should have a line-up in front at every performance, for the vaudeville acts are all A-1, and the feature photoplay, "Fast Company," with Franklyn Farnum and beautiful Juanita Hansen, is one of the best that has graced the family theater screen.

The well-known team of Seymour and Dupree are topping the bill, Seymour does everything from impersonating a chinaman to dancing like a 10-year-old. This vaudevillian knows what the public likes in the way of variety and gives all he has. Miss Dupree delights with a rich soprano voice. Other acts on the programme are Gene and Katherine King, the variety four, the Gerber sisters, and Lind and Bell. The Kings bring many good songs and stories and a good-looking wardrobe. The Gerber sisters are a delightful pair of girls. They soubrette their way into the hearts of their audience. The variety four renders some exceedingly pleasing harmony and the two girls of the act are good to look at and easy to hear. Miss Reta Bell of Lind and Bell, in fetching frocks, renders a few songs with Lind at the piano.

Pantages.

Shapely, sprightly, splashing sea sirens are the center of attraction on this week's Pantages bill in a sensational aquatic carnival billed as Winston's water lions and diving nymphs. The act features the diving girls along with a number of intelligent water lions, who duplicate the trick and fancy dives of the beautiful maidens.

"The Girl at the Cigar Stand," the offering of Leslie Clare and a clever company, is a sketch full of snappy lines. A touch of pathos has been given this sketch that lifts it out of the light, airy class so usual to vaudeville shows.

Eileen Fleury, "the little girl with the big voice," carries her audience by storm with her clever singing numbers. Canfield and Cohen, Jewish comedians, create laughs. Homer and Dubard have an unusual comedy offering that takes place in the music department of a 5 and 10-cent store. It is full of clever sayings and brand-new songs. Francis and Nord have a surprise novelty crammed with new songs and dances.

Hippodrome.

From the rollicking, rolling number of the Vernons, who open the programme at the Hippodrome this week, to the flying, fast aerial act of the three Jordons, who close, the bill is snappy and entertaining. After the Vernons show a few steps on the roller skates the tiny trio dance and give the cleverest exhibition by midgets that any local theater has seen in months. One of the tiny little women is a talented artist and draws a few cartoons for the amusement of the "customers."

McWilliams, Baldwin and Stendel, the Los Angeles boys who broke into the show game from the local cabarets, are going "over the top" in every regard with the audience, and harmony rings from every note they sing. A clever skit written by George Ade and played by the Charles J. Harris company is "The Mayor and the Manicure Lady."

Frank Vernon, who, with his sister Lillian, is presenting a clever roller skating act at the Hippodrome this week, is a retired roller-skating champion.

Morosco.

"Cheating Cheaters," that comedy delight at the Morosco, continues to crowded houses. This crook play has been the biggest kind of a hit since its opening performances here a week ago Sunday, and the performance of the Morosco players, under the personal direction of Fred J. Butler, has more than found public appreciation. Bertha Mann, Harland Tucker, Richard Dix, Joseph Eggenton, James Corrigan, Lillian Elliot, Bert Hadley, Adele Belgarde, Marion Vantine, Robert Lawler, Elmer Ballard, Harry Duffield and David Butler continue at every performance to characterize a most interesting set of "high-brow" crooks, and never has a play enjoyed more applause than this comedy from the pen of Max Marein.

Palace.

William S. Hart, in "Wolves of the Rail," and Sid Chaplin and Chester Conklin in the Macket Sennett comedy, "His Friendly Enemies," are the entertainment providers on this week's bill at the Palace.

The famous western star gives Palace patrons a view of the good side of life in his vehicle of road agents and railroads. Hart is seen as a reformed bandit who resolves to rid the country of his former associates, because of their outrageous atrocities, and after many hard fights and thrilling adventures he is more than successful. Many of the western star's admirers were both surprised and pleased to see their idol in an entirely new role. Hart usually portrays bandits and "bad men," but this time he is an upholder of law and order.

Chaplin and Conklin hold up the comedy end of the programme by springing some new comedy creations in "His Friendly Enemies." Both fun-makers are at their best in this Mack Sennett laughogram.

American.

"Me und Gott," appearing this week at the American, is in a class by itself as a motion-picture, dramatizing the great struggle of democracy against autocracy. It strikes a new chord in photodrama. It makes you think long and deep, after you see it. In the depths of hell, Satan, bloody-thirsty, plans the destruction of the world. Satan tells his emissary to ascend to earth and kill the dove, symbolical of "peace on earth." The dove of peace is killed. Satan's emissary returns to hell, and amidst the jubilation of the imps turns over to Satan the dead dove, who casts it into a forge, wherein the dove is turned into a winged eagle. Satan places the eagle upon a helmet and instructs his emissary to take it to earth and place it upon the head of the Kaiser. The Kaiser is invested as Satan's representative upon earth. The Kaiser, bloodthirsty, drinks "To the Day" when the world shall be at his feet. But the cup of wine he puts to his lips is the cup of poison, the creation of his own diabolical brain, which death brings him. Liberty appears to Uncle Sam, Jr., and orders him to take the shackles of the bonds of liberty and manacle Satan, the symbol of destruction. Uncle Sam, Jr., obeys the command. The Kaiser is in Hell, having taken Satan's place.

And while Satan's emissary shackles the Kaiser, destruction ceases upon earth—American troops and Allies win the victory which will forever defeat autocracy. Then sorrow throws off her chains and liberty once more enlightens the world.

"Me und Gott" was produced by the Romayne Super-Film Company. The war scenes are real.

Clune's Broadway.

W. H. Clune, desirous always of giving the public the best that money can buy in moving pictures, and feeling that "I, Mary McLane," in "Men Who Made Love to Me" was not up to the high standard of which Los Angeles audiences are deserving, yesterday canceled the showing of that feature at his Broadway theater.

In its place Clune's Broadway is now running George Beban in "Jules of the Strongheart." "Jules of the Strongheart" was adapted for the screen from a powerful out-of-doors story published recently. From it Frank X. Finnegan and Harvey Thew have written a scenario that is said to be virile, thrilling, filled with the milk of human kindness, replete with romance and the odor of the pine forests.

An exceptionally strong cast is seen in support of Mr. Beban. It is headed by Raymond Hatton, star of "The Whispering Chorus," and other well-known members are Helen Eddy, Earnest Joy, Horace B. Carpenter and Guy Oliver. It was directed by Donald Crisp, who staged the great W. H. Clune pictures, "Ramona" and "The Eyes of the World."

GLENDORA BOND SALE.

GLENDORA, April 9.—Glendora went over the top in the third Liberty Loan the second day of the drive. The allotment for the city was $49,000 and when the committee in charge reported this afternoon the total was $51,000. The committee intends to continue the work and double the quota if possible.

Mrs. E. R. Weirick.

HEADS SOCIAL SERVICE WORK OF CLUBS HERE.

WHEN Mrs. E. R. Brainard resigned as chairman of the social service work of the Los Angeles district of woman's clubs—150 of them—she recommended that Mrs. E. R. Weirick, known as the biggest little woman of Montana, be appointed to take her place. So yesterday, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones and the board of which she is head made the appointment, and from now on Mrs. Weirick will be busy speaking at Liberty Loan, Red Cross and all kinds of philanthropic and patriotic meetings.

Mrs. Weirick is the wife of a retired banker of Butte, with whom she has come to Los Angeles to make her home. The family for the present has taken a house at No. 446 South Gramercy place. Mrs. Weirick has just finished a course in social service work at the University of California and expects to employ her knowledge in working out practical schemes in various kinds of philanthropic work here. Under her observance will be all of the philanthropic institutions of the county, which are being maintained by club women and individuals.

Mrs. Weirick was the only woman ever appointed in Montana to serve on the State Board of Charities and Reform, of which she was secretary. The appointment was made by Gov. Stewart—and met the approbation of the entire State. She is still a member of the Advisory Board of the Children's Home Society and one of the directors of the Montana Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. She is a public speaker of ability and as a dramatic reader has a reputation more than State-wide.

Her only son, Lieut. Arthur M. Weirick, is in the Aviation Corps in France.

CHAMBER CONCERT.

FAVORITE MEDIUM OF THE GREAT ONES ENJOYED.

By Jeanne Redman.

A rare treat was offered to Los Angeles last evening at Trinity Auditorium in the concert of the Chamber Music Society of San Francisco. A company of virtuosi who have played together for three years, in San Francisco and throughout the West, and who will probably invade the East next season, make up the society, and devote to it as much time as they can spare from solo engagements and from the San Francisco Symphony — Louis Persinger, concert master and assistant director.

The favorite medium of poets is said to be the iambic pentameter and it may be said that chamber music is the favorite medium of the great composers. When they retire to the sanctum sanctorum, they write for strings, and thus some of the loveliest music ever written is available to this form of presentation. It is pure music, and admits of solo effects, as well as having the symphonic advantage of the ensemble. The Mozart Quartette for flute and strings, in C-major, was most exquisitely played. I can think of no quartette which could have done the work with a higher appreciation, and a finer sense of the simple beauty of the composition. The flute seems particularly adapted to the quality of ecstacy which is characteristic of Mozart and Elias Hecht (founder of the society) played with utmost skill and musicianship.

The Dohnanyi Quintette, Opus 1, for piano and strings, was almost fulsome in its abundant riches of melody and harmonic conception. Gyula Ormay, pianist, has played, as everybody knows, with many of the great virtuosi of recent years, and the subtlety of his interpretation, as well as the character and understanding with which he played, were, as always, remarkable. The Adagio movement of this quintette was especially lovely, and the viola, Nathan Firestone, displayed a rare tone when he opened the movement with the main theme, and at the closing.

The Glazounow Novellettes for string quartette closed the programme, and brought the house (which, by the way, was enjoying to the fullest the luxury of a semi-dark auditorium) to a state of rapture. The Novellettes are rich in Slavic beauty and atmosphere, and are composed with the skill which Glazounow, who is, after Rimsky-Korsakov, undoubtedly the greatest of the famous Russian "Five," displays in all his work. The society fell into the mood of the wild Russian dances with the utmost abandon, but never departing from the requirements of good taste and scholarly restraint.

Another concert is to be given by the society at Trinity next Saturday, with a tempting programme, including the Debussy Quartette, Opus 10, which, so far as I know, has not been played here before.

Fanning to Go to the Camps.

Cecil Fanning, the American baritone, who will be heard in recital at Trinity Auditorium tomorrow evening, arrives here today. He comes direct from the Middle West, where he has been devoting half of his time to giving and arranging programmes for the various cantonments. Although an excellent musician and personally preferring the so-called "highbrow" compositions, Fanning is exceedingly democratic and has a keen appreciation of the songs with "tunes," and gives most of this type on his camp programmes. He has become immeasurably popular with the boys, and instead of spending the summer on the Coast with the Turpins, as originally planned, he goes East the first of May to complete the details for a series of summer programmes at the camps.

THE CALL.

BY S. WILSON.

Don't you hear your country calling?
Buy a Bond!
Help the boys where shells are falling.
Buy a Bond!
Don't you hear the Eagle screaming?
Buy a Bond!
Don't you see the freedom gleaming?
Buy a Bond!
Don't you hear the cannons roar?
Our boys are fighting as of yore.
Buy a Bond!
Don't you hear the drums are rattling?
Buy a Bond!
All our loved are there battling.
Buy a Bond!
We shall fight for Liberty,
That all people shall be free.
Buy a Bond!
Don't you hear the bells a-ringing?
Buy a Bond!
They of Victory are singing.
Buy a Bond!
Stand behind our boys in France,
Kill the Hun with gun and lance.
Buy a Bond!
Our boys "o'er the top" are going,
Buy a Bond!
Let our dollars then be growing.
Buy a Bond!
Stand behind the flag we love,
God will help us from above.
Buy a Bond!

ACID WEAKENS ROPE, MAN FALLS TO DEATH.

PLUNGE FROM ELEVENTH STORY FOLLOWS EATING AWAY OR STRAND

Falling from the eleventh floor of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Building, at Sixth and Spring streets, when one of the ropes which supported his scaffold was eaten away by muriatic acid, Cornelius Rens, 41 years old a cleaner and painter living at No. 6347 Compton avenue, was dashed to death on the sidewalk, 150 feet below, last night.

The dead man's partner, Milton Brockstead of No. 1012 East Seventh street, escaped by clinging to the rope on the other end of the scaffold when the accident happened. Rens was rushed to the Receiving Hospital, and later was taken to the Garrett mortuary, awaiting instructions from his widow in Holland.

According to the report by Officer Box, who investigated the accident, Rens and Brockstead, in cleaning the terra cotta facing of the structure, used hydrochloric and muriatic acid. While they worked, the muriatic acid container tipped over and the acid ate into the rope.

SOLDIER ADONIS JAILED ON BAD-CHECK CHARGES.

"SURE, send me back to the military authorities; I am well liked in my company, and I won't get more than a month in the guardhouse. If you folks prosecute me I may get five years," said Charles H. Pearmine of No. 917 West Fifth avenue, Seattle, to Chief of Police A. C. Ramsey of Corona yesterday when he was arrested as an alleged forger and deserter from Col. L, Twenty-first Infantry, stationed at Balboa Park, San Diego. Pearmine, who is 19 years old, and a youthful Adonis in appearance, is alleged to have passed no less than two dozen checks in Pasadena, Long Beach, San Diego and Venice, totaling in the neighborhood of $700. At Pasadena, where he traveled in the best society for three days, Pearmine escaped from the officers by jumping from a second-story window of an apartment at No. 38 North Euclid avenue. He was conspicuous on account of his wearing a goatly silk shirt, olive drab in color and fashioned after the style of an army shirt.

He claimed to have been engaged to a member of the Pasadena younger set.

Letters written to his mother in Seattle were left behind, as well as his rouge stick, when he fled from Pasadena, according to Deputy Sheriff Harry Shade and Pasadena City Detectives Betts and Shelton. The silk-shirt soldier had already replenished his supply of face powder and rouge, which he had abandoned when evacuating Pasadena before his arrest in Corona. He made a complete confession, according to the officers. Pearmine told how he had been wined and dined at the Ship Cafe in Venice, where he had won two kewpie dolls for his exquisite dancing.

Pearmine will be taken to San Diego today by Chief Ramsey of Corona, where he will be turned over to the military authorities.

RED CROSS AFFAIRS

Allies' Market Today.

The second Wednesday Allies' market day at the Y.W.C.A. today promises to be an even greater success than the opening day last week. A still greater variety of goods have been donated, and the booths representing the six great nations among the Allies have a tempting array of articles ranging from fancy-work, through metal articles of all kinds, silver and gold, buckles and jewelry, china and cut glass, to flowers and fruits and a delicatessen counter of Hooverized dainties, which, of course, represents the United States.

In addition, there are several surprise features to add to the general entertainment, and the music for the afternoon will be furnished by the band from the Submarine Base at Fort MacArthur.

The notable collection of paintings donated by the artists of Southern California are on view—and sale—on the mezzanine floor. Each picture is representative of the best work of the artist, and the subjects are so diverse that there is a picture to suit every taste—each one a gem.

A huge melting pot will clang out its demand for old gold and silver. Not a scrap of this sort of valuable junk should be left in an American home. Clean out the little boxes and help win the war by setting aside purely sentimental associations in favor of practical patriotism.

Afternoon tea will be served in the mezzanine art gallery by girls of the Patriotic League, picturesquely costumed in black smocks and tams.

HINDSIGHT.

It is easy to look back and note how great events might have been avoided by the interposition of some little and almost unappreciable thing. Suppose, for instance, when Eve offered the apple to Adam he had had a chew of tobacco in his mouth!

TRY AGAIN, KIP!

The patriotic girls employed at a hotel in Pasadena raised a big tobacco fund for soldiers and each lassie wrote a love letter to accompany her gift. Kipling will have to revise his lines:

"A woman is only a woman
While a good cigar is a smoke."

THE KIND THAT COUNTS.

Nat Goodwin, in writing about his wives, says that his first wife was an angel, his second a silly woman, his third a Roman Senator, his fourth a pretty little thing and his fifth all woman. Perhaps if Nat had known a woman when he saw one in the first place he would not have had to fight so hard and "sailed through matrimonial seas" in order to win the prize at last.

A SAD CASE.

A burglar arrested in Los Angeles told the officers that he simply has to steal something every time he gets nervous. It seems that the accused has been nervous a number of times within the last few months, as small store-keepers have testified, but it took the police quite a while to discover his pathological condition. If that man ever gets the d.t.'s the big department stores will have to call on the Home Guards for protection.

THE WAY THEY'RE MADE.

The floors of heaven were littered with gold dust, gossamer threads fallen from purple robes, little silver feathers dropped from baby angels' wings and star-prongs loosened from archangels' crowns. The place needed sweeping out and Bret Harte and Jack London were detailed to the job. Gladly they grabbed their amber-handled brooms, swept the glory-tinted rubbish out of the doors of Paradise and silently it floated down, drifting ever westward until at last it mingled with a billion dancing sunbeams and the mists of the Pacific—and lo, from this marriage of color and form was born a California dawn!

A GOOD BUY.

It is not only patriotism, it is sound financial sense, to invest in Liberty Loan Bonds. They sell at par and yield 4¼ per cent. interest. When the war is over they will sell at a premium, as United States 5 per cent. bonds did after the close of the Civil War. It is true that the value of the Liberty Bonds depends upon winning the war. So does the value of all bonds and all stocks and all United States paper money. What would any evidence of public, or corporate or of individual indebtedness be worth if the United States and its allies should not win in this contest? What were Confederate bonds worth in London after Lee's surrender? What was Confederate currency worth in Richmond then? A veteran who wore the gray in those days asserts that he paid twenty thousand dollars for a pair of boots and that when people went to market it took a large basket to carry the market money and a small basket in which to bring home the marketing.

RUMANIA.

Expressions of sympathy are universal in the English and French press concerning the catastrophe that befell Rumania when the Bolsheviki betrayed alike their country and the Allies. After Russia had agreed to a "peace without victory" the Rumanian army was left in a position where further resistance was impossible. Rumania proved her fidelity to the Allies last summer. She is now crushed beneath the iron heel of the Central Powers but her people know that her liberty is bound up with that of the allied democracies.

Premier Clemenceau's paper, the Homme Libre, pays the following tribute to fallen Rumania:

> At the present time Rumania, surrounded on all sides either by the enemy or by treachery, is forced to submit to the most draconian conditions of the conqueror. But all stipulations made without the acceptance of the Entente are valueless in the eyes of France. The Peace Conference will revise all treaties, and it is the Peace Conference that will make them binding.

Writing in a similar strain the Figaro (Paris) observes: "Rumania has been forced to accept terrible conditions, but it is thoroughly understood that they will only be valid so far as the end of the war is favorable to the Central Empires. The European countries in league against Germany, with America, will certainly refuse to recognize their validity. None of them would dream of comparing the case of the unhappy Rumanian kingdom with that of Russia rushing headlong into dishonor. No people, not even those of Serbia or Belgium, has known so tragic a destiny. Rumania has already been betrayed by the ministers of the Czar, her throat has now been cut by the revolutionaries of Petrograd."

If democracy triumphs ultimately in its struggle against despotism, the treaties which Germany forced on the Russian people, on the Ukrainians and the Rumanians will be struck like gyves from their wrists.

SHIPS AND BOLSHEVIKI.

Correspondents of the Associated Press in Russia are sending to this country some illuminating details concerning the results of the practical application of Bolshevik and labor-union principles in the Russian navy. Those principles were applied for six months to the army and at the end of that time a fighting force of five million men had evaporated, like water kept too long at a boiling point. The result was the humiliating treaty of Brest which delivers in chains the labor and industry of what was once Russia to their Prussian masters. In the navy the effect was the same; a general disintegration took place which broke up the Russian fleets and left the vessels in so dilapidated a condition that they were unseaworthy. A European cable announced Monday that three Russian battleships had been sunk, following an attack by German dreadnaughts. The cable stated that the vessels were not in condition to engage the German ships, so they were blown up by their crews when the dreadnaughts approached.

Communications from the Associated Press correspondents reveal something of the process under which the Russian fleet was disorganized. They report that the sailors on the warships organized "ship's committees" according to the latest Bolshevik and labor-union doctrines. One correspondent relates that: "On board the vessels I found the squalor almost as bad as at Petrograd. The decks had not seen water or a broom for a long time. Everything one touched was dirty, black and grimy, and the whole aspect aboard ship was one of desolation and despondency. The sailors, free from all restraint and discipline, wore a sullen, sulky look. . . . The constant humiliation to which the officers of the warships were subjected knew no bounds. Many of the men delighted in their newly-found power and experimented with it as a child with a new top. . . . Signals were constantly hoisted stopping the leave of all officers ashore and requiring them to present themselves to their committees for permission to leave the ship. . . . The ship committees used their authority even to the extreme of passing resolutions for the murder of an unpopular captain or other ship's officer."

II.

Little wonder that, under such conditions, the Russian fleet was unable to offer armed resistance to the fleet of the invaders. This Bolshevik plan of a committee of employees is not new in this country. It is but an extension of a device of a number of the labor unions, notably the Typographical Union, to appoint a committee of union employees to draft rules concerning employment and discipline. The men decide in their "chapel" meetings what they will do and what they will not do; and from the decision of the chapel the employer or the foreman has no appeal. This practice suited the Bolsheviki and they put it into effect in all government work; it became part of the organization of the navy.

Under the Bolshevik regime the captain no longer directs the course of his vessel; that is decided solely by the union chapel, whose deliberations no superior officer is permitted to attend. One can imagine the kind of co-ordinated defense which a navy directed under such a system would offer to a formidable invader. The chapel of each vessel would decide whether it should go into action and how its efforts should be directed. No vessel would be bound by orders given by the occupant of some other vessel; an admiral would not be able to give a single command to advance or back water, even on his own flagship. Under such conditions it was but natural that the Russian fleet should fall an easy victim to the predatory squadrons of the House of Hohenzollern. "Fire!" says the Russian admiral. "Wait! We must have a committee meeting first and see about it!" say the gunners. "Forward march!" orders the captain. "Hold on! We must decide that in a chapel meeting," say the men of the company. What can be expected of an army or a navy under these conditions?

It was the application of similar tactics that occasioned the severe Russian land defeat on the Austrian frontier in the summer of 1917. The soldiers had formed chapels to direct their movements, and these chapels declined to co-ordinate. Following a vote of regimental chapels, the whole Russian army abandoned its post of defense on the third day of the fight and practically disbanded. Through the hole in the Russian line the German divisions marched to almost a bloodless victory. No one but an amateur newspaper strategist would imagine that an army could fight under such conditions.

One's first inclination would be to believe that the example of the ruin wrought in Russia would be sufficient to block the spread of such doctrine to other countries. But one finds the identical principle of chapel government in a number of American shipyards operated under government direction or control. Too many administration politicians have figured that it would be good politics to unionize the employees in the government yards, and wherever this unionization has taken place chapel government has been instituted and the production of ships has been below the minimum. Great Britain is passing through a similar experience. Most of her great shipyards have become unionized and are subject to the decrees of the union chapels. Often the different unions fail to agree and the work of one department is negatived by strikes and shiftlessness in others.

Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the British Admiralty, expressed his disappointment in Parliament recently at the results obtained of late in the British shipyards. He asserted that "The monthly output of merchant shipping averaged 140,000 tons during the last quarter of 1917, but fell to 58,000 in January this year." In the House of Commons on March 7 Mr. Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said: "We have been very much disappointed with the results of shipbuilding so far this month. There is nothing which the government knows that is more vital in this war than what is done in the two directions of the building of ships and the destroying of submarines." Commenting on these statements, the London Times observes editorially:

> Lastly, and perhaps chiefly, we need light on the organization of the shipping industry and the working of government control. There is something very wrong somewhere and our vital interests demand prompt and efficient action. Neither soothing answers nor mutual recriminations will help. Men who deliberately hamper or delay the production of new ships should be held as public enemies.

III.

American conditions are equally unsatisfactory. On April 2 E. N. Hurley, chairman of the Federal Shipping Board, and Charles A. Piez, general manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, sent a joint telegram to the shipbuilders of the nation stating that "We are keenly disappointed in the amount of tonnage delivered by American shipyards during the month of March and the slow progress made in many yards. . . . Money, material and men have been supplied without stint by the nation. . . . Ships are needed badly, and the American people want ships, not excuses."

There can be no disputing the conclusion that the production of most of the shipyards is below the minimum that should be expected when there is no shortage of material or labor. Increased wages have seemingly lowered efficiency. It is plain that there is bad work or bad management. Neither can a dispassionate observer avoid the conclusion that the chief fault lies with the management of the yards and the handling of the workmen. There is ample evidence that the men, taken as individuals, are intensely loyal. The strikes and discontent are traceable to the chapel form of administration in the government yards. Bolshevik principles under another name are equally fatal to labor and industry, and to patriotism as well. Plainly the practical control of some of the shipyards has ceased to rest in the right hands. Contending and conflicting chapels produce a condition similar to that which the Associated Press correspondents describe on the vessels of the Russian fleet. It is high time that the country take heed lest, under a guise of democracy, pernicious influences—working (in effect) for the success of the Kaiser, putting stumbling blocks in the way of American success—are permitted to destroy alike the efficiency and the patriotism of American labor.

GO TO WORK!

The action of the Ottawa government in requiring every idle man over 16 and under 60 years of age, living in Canada, whether citizen or alien, whether rich or poor, to engage in some useful work or else be sent to jail for six months, is an example which might be followed to advantage by every American State.

Labor is in itself beneficial aside from the results created by it. Science, philosophy, religion and common sense agree that organs and faculties are developed only by exercise. Labor is the pivot upon which all progress turns, the central principle alike in universal evolution and in individual development.

Said Bancroft: "Before labor in itself ceases to be beneficial the whole economy of nature must change. The inherent energy of man is significant of his laborious destiny. So nature groans under redundant energy, with here and there convulsive throes. Surrounding us is a universe seeking rest. This seeking is the normal condition of affairs; for rest only brings a desire for fresh activity. Bodies in motion labor to be quiet; bodies at rest labor to be in motion. So labor is the normal condition of man, both his will and his necessity. If he wills not to labor necessity drives him to it; if necessity is absent the spirit of good or the demon of evil stirs him to the accomplishment of he knows not what. Absolute rest once found, and chaos were come again. Activity is nature's rest, God's rest and man's only rest. What is absolute repose but death?"

By work the universe is, and man. Nature hinges on it; by it worlds are whirled and held in place, winds blow, and the fertilizing moisture is lifted from the ocean and dropped upon the hills; by it instinct is, and intellect is made, and soul implanted; by it grass grows, flowers bloom and the sunbeam enters the window, having traveled millions of miles to greet us.

If to labor is nature's mandate, the reward being no less certain if we obey than the punishment is sure if we fail, what folly is it for one to look for a miracle in one's behalf and expect to reap the finest fruit of labor which is improvement, not wealth, never having plowed nor planted.

Wherefore, brother, go to work. There are hundreds of advertisements in The Times for male help wanted—skilled and unskilled, soft jobs and hard jobs. If you cannot act as a book-keeper or a stenographer or a salesman or a chauffeur and do not understand radio telegraphy you can learn in an hour how to swing a pick or handle a hoe, and if you are rich and do not wish to hire out as a farm hand, then invest some of your wealth in a spade and cultivate your back yard, and if you have no back yard, then get one and dig, dig, dig! Follow the counsel of The Times and—GO TO WORK.

THE BOY'S CHANCES.

The impression prevails in America that enlistment or conscription in the army means the probable death of the soldier in battle. It has even been stated that an Allied officer at the front has only so many days to live; that the life of a man in the trenches is a matter of a limited number of days.

The impression is false and the statements are lies. As a matter of fact, the death rate in the Allied armies on the western front is only about four times that of men of the same age in civil life—and there are many occupations of peace which are no less hazardous than the occupation of making war.

On the authority of the Equitable Life Insurance Company we have it that less than 21,000 out of nearly 500,000 Canadians who have been sent overseas have been killed. This is only about 4 per cent.—and many of the Canadians have been in action for nearly three years. Perhaps more to the point is the case of the French army, whose definite casualties (including killed, prisoners and missing) were reduced to only 1.28 per cent. in the last half of 1916. It is safe to assume that the American army will make use of the experience of the French army and that its casualties will be no higher—if, indeed, we are not able to reduce them.

GREAT THOUGHTS ON PEACE.

Peace is liberty in tranquillity.—[Cicero.

I have never advocated war, except as a means of peace.—[U. S. Grant.

Nothing can bring you peace but yourself. Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles.—[Emerson.

I am a man of peace. God knows how I love peace; but I hope I shall never be such a coward as to mistake oppression for peace.—[Kossuth.

Peace, above all things, is to be desired, but blood must sometimes be spilled to obtain it on equable and lasting terms.—[Andrew Jackson.

Peace? A brutal lethargy is peaceable; the noisome grave is peaceable. We hope for a living peace, not a dead one.—[Carlyle.

Can He Raise It?

YOU CAN'T REFUSE.

(By Strickland Gillilan, the man who wrote "Off agin', On agin', Gone agin', Finnigin.")

The Sammy came in from the trench, and says he:
"There's too many calls on the courage of me.
I answered the call when they asked me to come
To fight that my countrymen might have a home.
I've fought ever since we've been quartered in France;
I've gone every time I was told to advance.
This order you give, to go over the top
Today, is too much—I am going to stop.
There's a limit to what I can rightly afford
To give to my country with cheerful accord."

The officer's eyes stuck a foot from his face
To hear this subaltern who courted disgrace.
And the private was sent where all mutineers go
To be shot the next sunrise—he hadn't a show.
I think that with me you will promptly agree
That a firing squad's right for such quitters as he.
But hasn't he just as much right to declare
His whole duty done and his job to forswear
As you in your home that he fights to protect,
When you're told that there still is some coin to collect?

He's sworn to obey every call that is given;
To risk his existance without being driven.
You, safe here at home, take advantage of this,
And claim no disgrace when a duty you miss.
You seem to believe you've a right to refuse
To lend of your hoard for the Allies to use
In saving your land and the land of all others
Who claim human rights for themselves and their brothers.
You have no such right! In stern duty you're bound
To GIVE while a coin in your coffers is found.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

ODE TO APRIL.

Oh, April, we are tickled to see you here once more! Old Winter's canned and pickled—good riddance to the bore! He hung around and blustered, with winds as sharp as mustard, until he had us flustered and made our spirits sore. Now Winter's hit the ceiling, no more his snow he flings; and you have come with healing and solace in your wings; with ecstacy man greets you, he goes out doors to meet you, to odes like this he treats you, he chortles and he sings. Oh, April, you're a winner, with ribbons on your horns! You make the ancient sinner forget his aches and corns; you are the month that pleases, all other months seem cheeses; you bring us balmy breezes and bright triumphant morns. The world that seemed forsaken, you make as good as new; the little birds you waken to sing a song or two; you clothe the plats with grasses and flowers in gaudy masses; you start the lads and lasses to spring sheeps' eyes and woo. 'Twixt winter time and summer you are the breathing place; oh, April, you're a hummer, a thing of charm and grace; between the cold that tries us and summer heat that fries us, fair April stands and eyes us and soothes the human race.

PRESIDENT SENG KWO CHANG: I have examined myself and feel that I have many defects.

DUKE ERNST GUNTHER: How dare President Wilson pose before Germany as a moral leader?

MARK M. JONES: At the Edison works everybody punches a crank every day, including Thomas A. himself.

HERR LANDSBERG: This war, no matter how it ends, can bring naught save hunger and suffering to the people.

COUNT WESTARP: Wilson with his slimy impudence is trying to seduce the Germans into disloyalty to their royal house.

WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.: Black dyed stockings sometimes stain the skin peacock blue. This is annoying but not dangerous.

EMPEROR WILLIAM: Everything goes to show that our superior military commandership will break our opponents' war will.

SENATOR PENROSE: The American people have lost confidence in the Wilson administration and have determined to restore the Republican party to power.

LORD RHONDDA: What the greedy grousers of this country speak of as famine the hungry Germans would look upon as luxury.

THE PATRIARCH OF ALL RUSSIA: By the power given us by God we forbid ye Bolsheviki to participate in Christ's communion.

NIKOLAI LENINE: Only unrestrained phrase-making can impel Russia at this moment and in these conditions to continue the war.

KING GEORGE: The aims for which I and my allies are contending were recently set forth by my government in a statement which received the emphatic approval of my people.

A PORTRAIT—No. 4.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

The embodiment, he, of discriminating hospitality.

Inclusive and yet exclusive, to be the invited guest at his little house among the tree-tops, implies many things. First, that you are Someone who has done Something. Your head must loom somewhat above your fellows ere his watchful eye observes its outlines. Nor is this all. Many who achieve distinction are by the very attaining rendered unfit for consociation; and above and beyond everything, those who enter into this man's magic circle must have savoir faire. There must be no raw social edges, however brilliant the attainments.

Genial, kindly, he is firm in his exclusions, and has the bravery to ask "Why" regarding mental parvenus. Good sport and generous liver, nothing ever goes too far in his home or in his presence. He tolerates nothing verging beyond the best of taste and has been known to banish one employing innuendo.

His social world is builded circle within circle. Inside the round are those invited only when the party is rather large. Unimpeachable, these, yet not so trusted as they who may be present at small affairs, when brain to brain and soul to soul, philosophies are discussed and worlds dissected, beside the open hearth. It is respecting this inner circle that discrimination ruthlessly is brought to bear.

His the gift, pre-eminent, of consorting those congenial. No host makes fewer failures in estimating who and who will assimilate.

A patron of the arts, his home teems with interest for the collector, the lover of autograph editions of pictures and of books. The atmosphere is rarified to the inhalation of the cultured, the appreciative. None others need attempt to breathe it.

SISTERS TO GIVE UP CITY JOBS TO GO TO FRANCE.

They expect to leave in May, and will resign their offices with the city until that time.

Miss Gardner has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for police judge at the coming election, and it was her plan to run for the office on an out-and-out woman's platform. Friends and political supporters had been doing much work among women's organizations. In the office of City Prosecutor she has been in full charge of all trials of women by juries for the prosecution.

Dr. Gardner has been filling an important position since the establishment of the Los Feliz hospital for fallen women, and it has been her duty in the health department to superintend and direct the analysis of blood taken from the men and women arrested and arraigned in Los Angeles police courts on charges of vagrancy. On her report depended the release or quarantine of the prisoners.

Dr. Gardner has also been in charge of bacteriological examinations for the army and navy at Fort MacArthur and at the Naval Training Station at San Pedro.

The Stanford unit will go directly to Paris, where [illegible] three months' intensive training under the direction [illegible] Red Cross, after which it will be incorporated into the main body of the American Red Cross in France and assigned to a definite locality for active service.

BEST ARTIFICIAL HARBOR HERE, SAY NORWEGIANS.

G. M. BRYDE, Norwegian Consul-General in Mexico, and nine other leading commercial and industrial men of Norway arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on a tour of inspection of the shipping facilities and trade extension opportunities offered in Southern California.

The party, which is at the Alexandria, consists, in addition to Mr. Bryde, of Mr. and Mrs. Johaanes Lindvig, British Vice-Consul at Kragero, Norway; Waldemar Gjems, Governor of Christiania; Birger Lie, capitalist, of Christiania, and Mrs. Lie; Fribjoff Bryde, nephew of Consul-General Bryde and owner of the Northern Shipbuilding Corporation of Seattle; Eivind Thon, secretary of the Norwegian Shipping Commission and editor of the Norwegian Shipping Gazette, and Christian Sebjott, well-known pianist and artist of New York City.

Consul-General Bryde is also a member of the Norwegian shipping commission which was sent by the Norwegian government to make a survey of the shipbuilding programme of this country. This commission was accompanied by the Norwegian food commission which has recently completed an agreement with the United States government whereby 40,000 tons of food will be allowed to be sent to Norway each month.

NORWAY NEEDS FOOD.

Speaking of this Mr. Bryde said, "All of the arrangements have been made, but for some reason the food has not yet been sent. We think Great Britain is holding up these foodstuffs, but these obstacles will be removed in the near future. Norway needs food in the worst way and it can only obtain it from this country."

Of the recent action of the United States in taking over the Dutch ships in American waters, Mr. Bryde said:

"Holland finds herself today in the same position Norway did a few months ago when England took over all of our tonnage. We gave up 1,400,000 tons of shipping, and it was the best thing that could have happened to us. England allows us to keep 270,000 tons, which is now in use between the United States and Europe. England also sends 20,000 tons of coal and coke to Norway each month, and this at the lowest freight rates and at base cost. Ship owners in my country have made fortunes in this business for England pays the highest price for our ships."

GOOD FOR HOLLAND.

"Holland let her vessels rust in the harbors of this country when they had an opportunity of making money as we did. I am sure that when the money begins to come in to Holland for her ships, she will be able to see that it was the best thing which could have happened to her."

The party made a tour of Los Angeles Harbor yesterday and were impressed with the facilities there for shipping and docking.

"It is the best artificial harbor in the world," Fribjoff Bryde said, "I am sure some time it will be one of the leading harbors on this Coast. When it becomes known in the shipping world, it will become a terminus for a large part of trans-Pacific and Panama Canal shipping."

The party will leave today for Santa Barbara, later going to San Francisco and the Northwest.

LOSES DAMAGE SUIT.

The $50,000 damage suit of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Mellus, in behalf of herself as the widow of Henry N. Mellus, who was fatally injured at Monrovia by an automobile of the Renaker Company, and for her daughter, Rena C. Mellus, was tried before Judge Avery yesterday and judgment given for the defendants, the Renaker Company and the driver of the machine, Leslie M. Renaker. The defendants were charged with carelessness.

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health.

Ellensburg, Wash.—"After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time was not able to go about. Our greatest desire was to have a child in our home and one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and wanted me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles. I improved in health so I could do my housework; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. S. JOHNSON, R. No. 3, Ellensburg, Wash.

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years experience is at your service.

OFFICIALS OPEN NEW RESERVOIR.

Millions of Gallons of Water are Turned into Chatsworth Basin.

In the presence of Mayor Woodman and President Robertson of the Public Service Commission, Chief Engineer Mulholland of the public service department yesterday morning turned the aqueduct water into the Chatsworth reservoir. The huge basin is not complete in every detail, but was in condition to receive a large supply of water and within a short time will be ready for filling.

The Chatsworth reservoir is the second largest basin along the aqueduct. It is planned to fill the reservoir to the twenty-one-foot level, the amount required being 3,000,000,000 gallons. When the basin is finished it will hold about 9,000,000,000 gallons. With such a supply on hand, the Mayor said, the city will be prepared to take care of almost any emergency.

WALL STREET NEGLECTS BUSINESS FOR WAR NEWS.

Prices Heavy as Traders Watch Events on Franco-Belgian Front.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 9.—Attention was divided today between the Liberty Loan campaign and the course of events along the Franco-Belgian front.

To the renewal of Teutonic diversions in the latter quarter was attributed the heaviness of prices and gradual reduction of dealings, total sales barely approximating 175,000 shares.

Domestic happenings, actual and prospective, such as a slight easing of call loans, several favorable statements of railroad earnings and the United States Steel tonnage report for March, to be issued tomorrow, scarcely entered into the calculations of traders.

The only evidence of cause and effect was afforded by the metal group, coppers displaying relative firmness on the resumption of operations in Mexico. Shares of silver companies made no response to the bill introduced in the Senate fixing $1 as the price of the white metal.

Pacifics, Grangers and minor rails were lower by 1 to almost 3 points, motors and oils reacting about as much, while shippings and obscure specialties were sluggish at more moderate recessions.

United States Steel again forfeited the better part of a point, kindred equipments manifesting more steadiness. Sumatra Tobacco's extreme gain of 2 7-8 to the new maximum of 99 7-8 was the only sign of pool activity.

More than ordinary activity was shown by international bonds, Anglo-French 5's selling at the year's best quotation, though gaining only a fraction. Liberty issues reacted at the outset, the 4's hardening later. Total sales, par value, aggregated $4,525,000.

United States bonds, old issues, were unchanged on call.

ADD NEW SENSATIONS IN WOMEN'S LIBEL CASE.

Chloroform and Burglary Supplement Perjury Charges, Love Affairs and High Society Scandal.

"I WAS a little nervous today when I heard the testimony. If I don't tell the truth, put me in jail."

James W. Rea, Railroad Commissioner of this State in 1886 and for years known as the political boss of California, squared his big frame in the witness chair in Judge Jackson's court yesterday and proceeded to clamp down the lid on the evidence given by Mrs. Eleanor Babcock in her $150,000 libel suit against Mrs. Elisabeth F. H. Middlecoff and Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley Braly.

"We want the truth," Judge Jackson told Mr. Rea. At a previous hearing of the sensational case he had declared from the bench that while a number of reputable women had been called as witnesses, "some one is committing perjury." Because of the contradictory evidence the court directed the District Attorney to send a deputy to the hearings.

Mr. Rea is vitally interested in the case. He was said by Mrs. Babcock to have turned over certain love letters to her which had been written by Mrs. Braly when she was Mrs. Gridley. These letters Mrs. Babcock testified she had given to Mrs. Braly at the Alexandria Hotel for information as to who had instigated the letter upon which the libel is based. This alleged libelous letter was written by Mrs. Middlecoff to Mrs. H. B. Wright. Mrs. Braly was joined as a defendant because Mrs. Babcock declared she had told her that she, Mrs. Braly, had instigated the letter.

HE DENIES IT.

Now Mr. Rea declared on oath that he had turned no letters of Mrs. Gridley over to Mrs. Babcock. This is the crux of the situation that has arisen in this remarkable hearing, which is intended to determine whether or not the case shall be transferred to Stockton, for trial, on the motion of Mrs. Middlecoff who resides in that city.

If Mrs. Babcock did not receive the love letters, then she did not turn them over to Mrs. Braly at the Alexandria; Mrs. Braly did not meet Mrs. Babcock at the Alexandria to receive the letters and Mrs. Babcock's witnesses, who testified they saw her there, are mistaken.

Then again Mrs. Babcock declared that Mrs. Middlecoff was at a reception given by Mrs. Braly at her Glendale home. Mrs. Braly and her witnesses say she was not present. Moreover, Mrs. Braly testified that she met Mrs. Middlecoff for the first time in the courtroom when the case was called several weeks ago.

Still another angle developed. Yesterday Attorney Taylor, representing Mrs. Babcock, asked the court for permission to amend the libel complaint in order to include Mrs. Edwin T. Sherer, the wife of one of the defendant's counsel, as a third defendant. Judge Jackson did not pass on the motion, saying he would wait until the close of the hearing.

Mrs. Sherer, it seems from the testimony, wrote a letter to Mrs. Middlecoff, in consequence of which Mrs. Middlecoff caused her secretary to write Mrs. Wright certain facts intended to preclude Mrs. Babcock from obtaining admission as a member of the Ebell Club.

NEW SENSATION.

Until yesterday it was believed that no further sensation could creep into the case. But Mrs. Babcock furnished the latest. She said that her house in Eagle Rock had been broken into last January, she herself chloroformed, and her trunks searched, papers and documents being found scattered on the floor.

Judge Jackson insisted upon knowing if she suspected anyone. Finally Mrs. Babcock stated that she did suspect "the Middlecoff interests." It was evident from this that the burglar wanted her private papers bearing on the libel case.

Another development was the issuance of a bench warrant to summon Mrs. Irma Gage into court from Topanga Canyon. She was served with a subpoena, but, as she did not know what she was supposed to testify to, and being in jeans and working in her garden, she did not respond to the summons.

Judge Jackson heard her excuses late yesterday afternoon, when she was brought in on a bench warrant and she was placed on the stand. By her testimony it was expected to prove that she had seen Mrs. Middlecoff at the Braly reception. She did see a woman there dressed in white, but when Mrs. Middlecoff was asked to come forward Mrs. Gage could not identify her.

Contradictory evidence, mistaken identity, letters written but denied having been sent, burglary, chloroforming, alleged perjury, letters offered in evidence but not read aloud, and letters alleged to have been paid for and flatly denied that such letters ever passed hands, are some of the features of the case. But the thing that stung Mr. Rea and made him a willing witness was the testimony of Mrs. Babcock that he had "peached" on Mrs. Gridley.

STRANGE TALE.

There was Mrs. Babcock's evidence of an ardent love affair, of a midnight visit to Mr. Rea's door and a gentle tap on the door, the spectacle of Mrs. Gridley in her night gown and of Mrs. Gridley with her arms around Mr. Rea. All of these things Mr. Rea denied, and denied with vehemence, especially that Mrs. Gridley was writing him four letters a day and "pestering" him to marry her.

Mrs. Babcock and Mrs. Gridley were at one time his very good friends, he said. Mrs. Gridley wrote him perhaps three or four letters. He said he came to the defense of James W. Rea.

Mrs. Babcock on one occasion when Mrs. Gridley wrote him with special reference to a family affair. He said he straightened the matter out.

At that time, it appears, Mrs. Gridley was favorable to appointing Mrs. Babcock a delegate to the convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It also appeared that Mrs. Gridley and Mrs. Babcock were friends; that Mr. Rea met Mrs. Gridley at Mrs. Babcock's house and interested her in a real estate deal. Mr. Rea and Mr. Babcock were interested in mining, and through this business and social intercourse their relations were friendly until the famous libel suit was filed.

Because he wants to get at the truth, Judge Jackson was not able to finish the case yesterday. It will be resumed this morning with Mr. Rea under cross-examination.

Organizer of St. Louis Post-Dispatch Expresses Amazement at Los Angeles' Recent Growth.

W. C. Steigers, second vice-president and business manager of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis, is in Los Angeles for an extended visit with friends. Mr. Steigers is known as one of the most successful newspaper publishers in this country. He was one of the organizers of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and his attention to its business interests has helped to make it one of the most influential dailies of the Middle West.

The desire for a few weeks of recreation in the Southland brought Mr. Steigers to Los Angeles. He expressed amazement yesterday at the tremendous development that has taken place here in recent years.

NEW PAINTING LAW BLOCKED.

Councilmen Decline to Adopt Regulatory Measure.

Say Proposed Ordinance Fails to Protect Householder.

Charge that Attempt's Being Made to Unionize City.

Councilman Criswell, the recognized representative of unionism in the city's legislative body, failed again yesterday in an attempt to force through a new ordinance providing for the regulation of painters and paper hangers. With Councilman Olsen absent, the vote was evenly divided upon the proposition.

Godfrey Edwards, a member of the General Contractors' Association, told the Council that the proposed ordinance would not accomplish that which its backers claim for it. "They say it will regulate paints, but the ordinance does not specify the ingredients of paints," said Mr. Edwards.

"As a matter of fact the city inspector would be required only to inspect the paint used on a house and see that it comes up to the specifications named in the contract. There is no regulation of the specifications and it would be possible for a painter to daub on coal oil and cheese, by giving it a trade name. The layman would not know whether the paint contained linseed oil and lead and the inspector would only be required to see that the paint contained the specifications fixed in the contract."

Mr. Edwards said his association is unanimously opposed to the proposed measure. He said also that the Realty Board and others interested in building are opposed to it.

Mr. Criswell proposed that the ordinance be amended so as to fix the bond of contracting painters at $500, and fix it so the license fee of $50 can be paid quarterly instead of semiannually. These amendments were approved by the Council, but when the motion was made to have the City Attorney prepare an ordinance including the amendments Messrs. Cleaveland, Conaway, Conrad and Mallard voted against it.

Then Mr. Criswell moved to adjourn, but this was voted down and Mr. Mallard moved that the bill be filed. This resulted in a tie vote. When it was found that the deadlock could not be broken, the members adjourned.

It is understood that Mr. Olsen promised to vote against the ordinance, and he is expected to do so when it comes up for consideration next week.

Nothing was said by any of the members concerning the capitulation of the Master Painters' Association to the labor union painters. For weeks the unionites opposed the ordinance, but when the master painters agreed to give them a flat wage of $4.60 per day with every Saturday afternoon off, they submitted to the measure.

"There is a scheme afoot to unionize the whole city through legislation by this Council," Mr. Mallard said, "and I am not going to stand for it."

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The Ebell Club.

Politics are getting interesting at the Ebell Club. There is now no apparent opposition to Mrs. Mathew Robertson as president, Mrs. Grantland Long declining to run against her. Mrs. Robertson is this year's president of the Galpin Shakespeare Club, in which connection she tells an amusing story on herself. Her husband had disapproved of her accepting that onerous office, so she just failed to mention she had been elected, she says. However, as daily telephone calls from the club flowed in, Mr. Robertson said acrimoniously, "What do they bother you about that club for; they must have a pretty poor president."

"They certainly have," agreed Mrs. Robertson, mournfully. So goodness knows how the gentleman will feel when the even sterner duties of Ebell are weighted on her shoulders.

There are two competitors for first vice-president—Mrs. Charles H. Poll, a literary and cultured lady of Glendale, and Mrs. W. R. Dickinson. Mrs. Long, the retiring first vice-president, will not escape duties, however, as plans are already afoot to give her full charge of extensive club war work in the coming year. Mrs. A. B. Cook was also proposed for the vice-presidency, but will prefer second vice-presidency and programme chairmanship, and Mrs. J. B. Millard is also suggested for that role. Mrs. W. H. Millspaugh will probably be the general orator, but Mrs. Ed Crumley also has many supporters. Mrs. J. F. Thayer is the probable corresponding secretary, unopposed as yet, and Miss L. Paxton, that picturesque, essentially refined little lady who so adorns Ebell's platform, is assured of reelection as recording secretary.

Mrs. William Redd has also been suggested as president, but declined to run at the request of her husband. Besides she is immersed in Red Cross work.

Public Affairs.

The Public Affairs Committee of the Friday Morning Club is quite as submerged in multitudinous and overwhelming interests as the State Legislature. For three solid hours yesterday afternoon the audience was trying to digest the profundities of more than a dozen speakers on a variety of civic matters—our tummies must Hooverize, but our intellects may not.

The thrilling event of the programme was to have been the "experience" meeting of women jurors, but only two of the women told real experiences, the rest being weighted down with the evident responsibility to overhaul, revise, criticise and make over the jury system of the courts. Mrs. T. C. Atchley and Mrs. Lucia Earle both had this duty on their conscience and offered profound (and be it whispered) platitudinous suggestions for the correction of all evils. Mrs. Rose P. Bryant and Mrs. Clinton Sterry did, however, tell some experiences with engaging brevity. All the ladies seemed intent upon reciprocating the various judges' complimentary remarks, and said pleasant things about the courts in which they had served. Miss Ianthe Densmore read a most complimentary letter from Judge McCormick, and proclaimed her own experience "delightful."

The part of the programme devoted to the branch libraries was entirely the most interesting. Miss Helen C. Kennedy gave some instructive data and statistics by which we learned that 130,000 citizens are cardholders in our library system, and over 2,000,000 books were circulated last year. Miss Blanche Herzog told of the many functions the libraries fill in the community, not alone as book lenders, but as civic centers for club meetings, study classes, Red Cross and food conservation activities.

Little Miss Mignon Tyler, whose name exactly suits her, crowded a wealth of information about the children's side of the library work into her six minutes, obviously a most pleasant side of their constructive education. Miss Jane Dick told of the playground libraries, which are almost a separate department.

Various phases of industrial art were discussed by Mrs. Randall Hutchinson, Miss Grace Fulmer and Harry A. Schweppe, the latter a young student, who spoke with happy confidence of the joys of his school work. It was interesting to learn that so many boys from the school have gone to war that the personnel of the schools is now largely feminine.

The Legislative Council.

The Woman's Legislative Council met on Saturday morning at the Brack Shops, with Mrs. Hester Griffith, first vice-president, in the chair. The new appointees announced were Mrs. C. H. Spence, Membership Committee; Dr. Jessie Russell, Speakers' Committee, and Mrs. W. H. Anderson, publicity.

In the afternoon in the Metropolitan Building the many measures to be presented at the conference of delegates in San Francisco at the Palace Hotel on Friday and Saturday this week were discussed. Seventy-five members were present. The speakers were Prof. Marvin L. Darsie and Mrs. Birnie Potter, anent transforming the State Normal School into a teachers' college; Mrs. S. U. Stewart on farm schools, Mrs. Chester Ashley on national prohibition, Dr. Jessie Russell on measures indorsed by the P.-T.A. relating to community property laws and national woman's suffrage, and Miss Orfa Shonts upon amendments to the Juvenile Court laws. All the measures were discussed, and will be put to the vote of delegates at the northern meeting this week. Among the southern women who will go up are Mrs. Hester Griffith, Dr. Jessie Russell, Mrs. Caroline R. Kellogg and Mrs. M. E. Johnson.

WANTS TO CUT OUT "GERMAN."

Social Club Asks Permission to Change Its Name to Golden State.

The German-American Social Club of Los Angeles petitioned the courts yesterday to change the name to the Golden State Social Club of Los Angeles. The name "German" is often misconstrued, the petition states, and is in disfavor and offensive to the present board of directors.

These latter are Charles Erandstetter, Peter Koetterer, Julius Unmark and George Scheurmann.
